FREEDOM OF AIR STIRS CLASH OF U. S. AND LATINS

Yanks Act to Guard Canal from Spies.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.)

HAVANA, Jan. 22.—The first clash between the United States and Latin-American countries at the Pan-American conference has occurred, it was learned tonight. It came over measures which the American delegation proposes for the protection of the Panama canal zone, the American naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, and other fortified places from spying by foreign aviators.

The American proposal is an amendment to the projected convention on commercial aviation. Under the terms of the draft convention, the United States may prohibit the aircraft of any other contracting state from flying over any portion of its territory and may prescribe flying routes in the vicinity of prohibited areas provided that the prohibition extends to American aircraft also.

This is unsatisfactory to the American delegation which has drafted an amendment by virtue of which the United States would determine what air lines could establish landing places in the vicinity of fortified areas and in other important respects control commercial aviation in the neighborhood of the canal zone.

German Concern Seeks Rights.

The matter has been brought to a head by the efforts of the S. C. A. D. T. A. company (Sociedad Colombo-Alemana de Trasportes Aereos) of Colombia, which is backed by German capital to establish a line of air craft operating from Colombia across the Panama canal to an airport in the republic of Panama. At the instance of the United States, the government of Panama has refused up to date to grant the German company landing rights.

American officials think it unwise to allow unregulated flying over the canal by foreign aircraft. Foreign aviators, it is conceived, would be able, if uncontrolled, to obtain an intimate knowledge of the defenses of the canal and in the event of war, the foreign air line facilities, so established, might be employed for the bombing of the canal.

The United States does not seek to prevent the Colombia company from establishing a line crossing the canal, but it wants to be able to designate the point at which the canal shall be crossed and the point at which landings are to be made in Panama and it wants to be free to allow more liberal privileges to American airship lines if it appears desirable.

Might Favor U. S. Rival.

The Pan-American airways now operating a line of planes between Havana, Key West and Miami is an American company, which is seeking to extend its service to Panama. Under the proposed amendment, it would be possible for the United States to discriminate in favor of this and other American companies in the privileges granted in and about the canal zone.

Panama has signified its approval of the proposed United States amendment, which is in harmony with the treaty of 1903 between the United States and Panama, giving the former complete and unhampered power in all matters relating to the defenses of the Canal Zone. Columbia and several other Latin-American countries, however, are up in arms over the move of the American delegation. They have served notice that if the amendment should be voted into the convention they will refuse to ratify the treaty.

U. S. Insists on Right.

The position of the American government is that unless the amendment be accepted the United States will refuse to ratify it on the ground that the Panama canal as a vital link in our national defense must be safeguarded at all hazards. The Latin-American opposition points to this move as another illustration of the dictation and domination of the United States in the Caribbean region.

The proposed convention lays down elaborate rules for the regulation of international air navigation among the American republics.

Plan Chicago-Patagonia Railway.

Another subject to come before the communications committee is the protection of a through railway route from Chicago to Patagonia. This is a vast project which it will take many years to realize. Chicago and southern Mexico are now connected by rail as are Buenos Aires and Lima in South America.

Theater Robber Slain by Captor

SHOT TO DEATH BY WATCHMAN IN MIDST OF CROWD

Killing an Accident; Bandit Unarmed.

A robber, obviously an amateur, who tried to hold up the cashier of the People's motion picture theater at 1620 West 47th street without using a revolver last night was pursued by two special watchmen and shot and killed by one of them in the presence of a large crowd after he had surrendered.

Arthur Bedard of 17 West Ohio street, who did the shooting, told the police it was accidental and his version was accepted after it had been corroborated by members of the crowd. He asserted that the throng had surged about him so tightly as he held the prisoner against a wall that the pressure caused his pistol to be discharged.

Watch Robber for Two Hours.

The bandit appeared in the theater lobby shortly after 7 p. m. Bedard and his fellow watchman, George Bailey of 3123 West Congress street, watched him for nearly two hours from a vantage point behind the curtained doors that led to the interior of the playhouse, where 2,000 patrons were watching the show.

He was feigning intoxication, they surmised, and they waited. At 9:30 the robber stepped up to the cashier's cage. In it were Miss Louise Bernard and Miss May Schaack, both of 1756 West 47th street. They were counting the receipts, which amounted to about $2,000 for the day.

Thrusting his hand under his coat to make it appear that he had a pistol, he demanded in a gruff voice:

"Hand over that money."

Miss Bernard ducked down from her seat. Miss Schaack screamed. As she did so the two watchmen ran out. They fired two shots as the man fled. He turned into an alley on the west side of the theater, with the pursuers at his heels. Half a block west, at an intersection with another alley, he was caught. With the watchmen by this time was Policeman Michael Spatz, who had joined in the chase as the robber darted into the alley.

Leaving Bedard and Bailey with drawn pistols, Policeman Spatz went to call for a patrol wagon. The crowd pressed in on the watchmen and Bedard's pistol was discharged. A bullet struck the robber in the chest. He was carried into the lobby of the theater and a physician was summoned. He died, however, before the latter's arrival.

In the pockets when the dead man was searched were 16 cents and a gas bill bearing the name W. Graham, 5037 Harper avenue. An investigation was in progress early this morning to determine whether Graham was the man killed.

The slain bandit was about 25 years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall and of medium build. His hair was light brown. He wore a brown hat, a blue suit and a dark gray overcoat.

Few of the patrons of the theater were aware of the killing. The crowd of witnesses was composed of passers-by who were attracted by the shots fired by Bedard, Bailey and Spatz.

Dinner Guests Robbed.

A number of relatives and friends, with their children, were gathered for an anniversary dinner last night in the apartment of A. J. Feldman, wealthy manufacturer of children's furniture, on the third floor at 444 Aldine street. There was a knock at the door and Mr. Feldman, thinking it was some late arriving guest, threw it open. He found himself confronted by three men with drawn pistols.

"Throw up your hands, everybody!" they ordered. One robber went to the kitchen and threw open the back door. There stood a fourth armed robber. All in the house, including frightened children, were then herded into the dining room, and while two robbers, each with a brace of pistols, kept them covered, another searched each person, throwing the loot into a hat.

After collecting $95 in cash and jewelry valued at $3,000 from Mr. Feldman and his guests, the four escaped in a waiting automobile.

Among those at the apartment were Mrs. May Siegal, who lives in the same building, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Kirsch and Mr. and Mrs. L. Cooper, all of 1309 South Lawndale avenue, relatives of the Feilmans.

Flaming Youth Has Its Day in Jersey Pulpit

Asbury Park, N. J., Jan. 22.—[U. P.]—Two college youths and a co-ed, burning with indignation, occupied the pulpit here today and capitalized their long sought for opportunity by taking a crack at their elders.

The topic of the sermons in the First Baptist church was, of course, "Flaming Youth," and their substance was:

"There would have been a great outcry from the churches in the length and breadth of the land if the recent child slayings in California and Michigan had been perpetrated by college students."

"The trouble is," said Ronald F. Dixon of Asbury Park, ready to deliver his oral spanking, "that the churches stick too much to the actual book of Christianity and not enough to the spirit.

"The solution is," he continued, "church people should be less catty and more Christian-like.

"There are too many religious morons in the pews. One can hardly expect the youth of today, with its honesty of expression, to be dictated to by such people."

Rowland W. Mauch of Asbury Park, defending the youth of the land, said:

"The youth of yesterday was no more moral than the youth of today. The modern youth is more frank, and probably is better off for the additional frankness."

Miss Margaret Groom completed the trinity. She said:

"We don't do so badly as some people say. In fact, it seems to me, we're doing quite well. Wouldn't this be an odd sort of world if it had no youth."

Fond du Lac., Wis., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Business was dull in the soft drink parlor and lunch room run by Ray Rogler, former traffic policeman, here, so he devised a plan to draw a crowd into the frigid night air with the possibility that many of the number would seek refuge in his warm establishment. Rogler's idea cost him a fine of $25 and a sentence of thirty days in the county jail. He may also have to pay the cost of two runs which the fire department made in answer to the false alarm he turned in.

Fire at Belmont Hotel Drives 300 to Street

Three hundred guests of the Belmont hotel at Belmont avenue and Sheridan road late last night were driven to the street when a smudge-like fire of unknown origin started in the basement, sending fumes and thick smoke into the lobby and up through the corridors. No one was injured, but some of the guests shivered in thin clothing while firemen put out the blaze. Among the guests in the hotel at the time were Fred Mandel, an official of Mandel Bros. department store; Maclay Hoyne, former state's attorney; C. J. Beg Missing Smith Girl to Return Home

Northampton, Mass., Jan. 22.—(AP)—In the hope that Miss Frances St. John Smith, missing Smith College student, still is alive, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. St. John Smith of New York tonight addressed a letter to her through the press, appealing to her to let them know that she is safe.

The letter, similar to that written recently by the girl's mother, was given to the newspapers in the hope that the young woman might read it. It was addressed "Dearest Frances" and said:

"We want you to know that we are thinking of nothing but your safety and happiness. If you are safe and want to make a different life for yourself we do not want to interfere, but to help you all we can.

Want No Explanation.

"But we do want to know that you are safe. Won't you write to Aunt Susie or M. T. and say that you are? They will see that your confidence is respected and your wishes carried out. Above all, we want you to come home, but if you wish quiet and seclusion they will see that you have it. We want no explanation. We only want to care for you and know that you are safe. We get through the days only because we hope every hour to hear from you. With dearest love, mother and father."

Forty state patrolmen returned to their barracks tonight after another day of futile search for the missing student. The surrounding countryside was explored for miles by the searchers without yielding any clue.

NOT AT PARIS HOTEL

PARIS, Jan. 22.—[U. P.]—Miss Francis St. John Smith, the Smith college freshman who has been missing since Jan. 13, is not at the Hotel Astor, the management said tonight.

"No such person ever registered here," the Astor manager said in reply to reports that a "Frances Smith arrived Saturday morning at the Hotel Astor, 11 Rue Astorg."

The Paris search was instituted at the request of relatives of Miss Smith as the result of a message sent them by a French detective.

Harry Thaw Ousted from Mexico, Juarez Report Says

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 22.—[U. P.]—Harry Thaw was ordered by Mexican officials on Saturday to leave Juarez immediately, after he had spent a day on the Mexican side of the border, according to a Juarez dispatch to the newspaper Universal. He went to Fort Worth, Tex., the dispatch said.

Expect Millionaire to Be Japan's Foreign Minister

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Japan, Jan. 23.—Political circles expect the early appointment of Fusanokuko Kuhara, multimillionaire mining operator, as foreign minister.

Social Events Strain Nerves; Fear Collapse

CRISTOBAL, Panama, Jan. 22.—(AP)—America's favorite flyer is very nervous and "may crack under the strain" of social activity in the opinion of Col. Arthur Fisher, commandant of France field, where Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is now a guest.

On his vacation trip for a week's hunting and fishing in the mountains, Col. Fisher said, the noted flyer was unable to sit still, read, or rest like the other officers on the trip.

[While Lindbergh was in Mexico City it was noted that on Christmas day when left alone he frequently picked up books in the library of Ambassador Morrow as if to read them, only to put them down again shortly.]

He's Calm in the Air.

However, nervous though Col. Lindbergh may be on the ground, he is all right in the air, according to Col. Fisher. The flyer is said to have expressed a wish to be allowed to do the flying on the trip and let some one double for him in the social activities that are the lot of a popular ambassador of good will.

Col. Lindbergh plans to take off Friday for his first South American visit. Col. Fisher announced the flyer's plans today after he had gone over a mass of letters and cablegrams that came for him before his return yesterday from the Panamanian mountains.

Will Visit Colombia.

Cartagena and Barranquilla, Colombia, will be Lindbergh's first goals on the way to Caracas, Venezuela. From Caracas he expects to go to St. Thomas, one of the Virgin islands, thence to Haiti, Santo Domingo, and Cuba.

A pleasure trip took up most of Col. Lindbergh's time today. He crossed Limon bay in a launch and then went on horseback to see the ruins of the old Spanish fortress of San Lorenzo. He expects to see the great Gatun locks of the Panama canal in operation tomorrow, and probably will do a little flying to test the condition of the "Spirit of St. Louis." Mechanics have reported the plane to be in perfect condition.

PROBE DEATH REPORT

Stirred by a false radio announcement that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had been killed in an airplane crash in Panama, hundreds of Chicagoans yesterday made excited telephone inquiries of THE TRIBUNE and the telephone company. The interest was great.

Although some of the inquirers said they had heard the announcement over the radio, most of the calls came from persons who had been passed the rumor as they went to church or met acquaintances in the street. The radio announcement had apparently been made about 3 o'clock in the morning but no one was able to furnish the name of the station making it.

Charles S. Himmel, head of the city radio commission, announced that he would make a thorough investigation today of how the rumor gained circulation. If he can find that a radio station broadcast the rumor without making an effort to establish its truth, he will recommend to H. D. Hayes, the federal radio supervisor of this district, revocation of the station's license, he declared.

COSGRAVE FINDS CHICAGO CITY OF LAW AND ORDER

Irish President Goes to Visit Coolidge.

BY JOHN STEELE.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 22.—[On the Irish presidential train.]—Tired, but enthusiastically happy over his Chicago visit, President William T. Cosgrave of the Irish Free State retired for the night at 10:30 p. m., remarking that he would get a good rest before his arrival in Washington in the morning.

The Irish leader had been able to get only about four hours' sleep at the close of his strenuous day in Chicago, and he had arisen early to attend mass and take communion in St. Patrick's church. He had driven directly to his train from the church, making up for part of his lost sleep by taking a short afternoon nap on the train.

"Chicago Is Unbelievable."

Cosgrave and all his staff left Chicago with the feeling that they have seen a bit of real America. Col. Joe O'Reilly, the president's aide de camp and bodyguard, who has the reputation of being the quickest man on the trigger in Ireland, remarked this morning: "Sure I thought I was in America when we landed in New York. Now I know we were just in the outskirts of Europe."

President Cosgrave grew almost lyrical when I talked with him just after the train started. "I couldn't have believed there was such a city if I hadn't seen it," he said.

"No city in the history of the world has been so libeled. If one was to believe all that is printed in England and Ireland life is unsafe and there is no order in Chicago. I never saw such order, such control of traffic, such beautiful buildings, and I was overwhelmed by the cordiality and friendliness of the people. It pleased me especially to see how Irishmen have made good.

Praises Mayor Thompson.

"I want to say a word about that great and grossly libeled man, Mayor Thompson of Chicago. If I were not experienced in politics, I would have expected to meet a roughneck. Instead I was received and honored by a big, kindly, genial American, so bubbling over with plans for the betterment of his city that he talked about hardly anything except the plan to connect Chicago with the sea and make her America's greatest city.

"I must also speak of Chicago's wonderful architecture and particularly The Tribune Tower. Never have I seen such a combination of classic beauty and extreme utility.

"I also was struck by the spirit of public service in THE TRIBUNE organization — the genuine, kindly, democratic friendliness of every one in THE TRIBUNE family from top to bottom.

"And now a word or two about that great citizen of Chicago, Michael J. Faherty. We have known of him in Ireland for years and have been grateful for all he has done to help in the struggle for freedom. At last night's wonderful meeting Mr. Faherty said what needed saying, and I want to indorse the statement that we in Ireland are ready, willing, and able to manage our own house."

Learns of Washington Plans.

President Cosgrave was informed today of the details of his Washington visit so far as they have been arranged. On his arrival tomorrow morning the party will drive to the Mayflower hotel and the president will be the guest at a private lunch of Col. "Wild Bill" Donovan, assistant attorney general.

At 5 p. m. tomorrow Cosgrave will be presented to President Coolidge by T. A. Smiddy, Irish minister to Washington. In the evening he will be the dinner guest of Vincent Massey, Canadian minister. Cosgrave will be a luncheon guest at the White House during his visit. He will also be entertained by the British ambassador. He will go to Philadelphia next Friday.

On the train with President Cosgrave and his staff and Minister Smiddy are Roger Faherty, president, and Kevin Kelly, secretary of the Irish Fellowship club of Chicago; Dr. John J. Killeen, who will look after Cosgrave's health until he sails for home on Feb. 3; Dr. Austin Hayden and Howard Shaw.

COSGRAVE AT MASS

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

'Twas a proud day for old St. Patrick's and for Father McNamee!

In the venerable red brick church at Des Plaines and Adams streets the farewell ceremony of the "family visit"—as they like to call it—of President Cosgrave and the secretaries of state, defense, and foreign affairs of the Irish Free State took place on Sunday morning.

The Chicago visit of the foreign dignitaries culminated in a scene of profound solemnity and splendor. The president and his aid de camp, Col. O'Reilly, youthful veteran of the Anglo-Irish war, knelt at the chancel rail of St. Patrick's and received the sacrament. The church was crowded. Its severe exterior was brightened with bunting in the colors of the Free State flag—green, white and gold; within, it was radiant with lights and rich ornament. In honor of the occasion the color of the mass was green, and the effect of its vividness against the background of white marble and of murals was extraordinarily fine. A double significance was imparted by the color chosen because in the Catholic liturgical scheme green is the color of hope.

St. Patrick Processional.

The processional—sung by a choir of twenty men and forty women vested in black—was "Hail! Glorious Saint Patrick." Immediately upon the seating of the presidential party, which was escorted by Francis J. Kilkenny, the choir moved slowly up the nave, chanting—

In the war against sin, in the fight for the faith,
Dear Saint, may thy children resist to the death;
May their strength be in meekness, in penance and prayer,
Their banner the cross which they glory to bear.

Before the celebration of the high mass in commemoration of the pilgrimage of the Irish statesmen to St. Patrick's, Father W. J. McNamee, rector and rehabilitator of the old parish, addressed the congregation from the lofty pulpit. No ceremony, however solemn, can be chilling when that genial and fatherly ecclesiastic is on the scene.

A Friendly, Family Spirit.

So yesterday Father McNamee instantly gave ceremonial the note of "family," saying:

"I had a nice little speech prepared for this occasion, dear friends, a nice little speech, I think, but I am going to keep it in my pocket and enjoy it later by myself. You see, our honored guests of today have to make a train right after the celebration of mass, and I do not wish to make travelers uneasy with my speech, however nice I think it.

"Furthermore, President Cosgrave is fasting this morning. So, after mass, we must have time to give him a cup of coffee and a bite of toast before he starts for Washington.

"Therefore I am going to say only that this is the proudest day which our parish ever has known, the proudest day people of Irish birth and descent in Chicago have known. It is wonderful to me to welcome the first executive head of the sovereign free state of Ireland. We welcome that state. We welcome its chief executive.

"I suspect it is pretty generally known that our people in America have a kind of weakness for remaining in office. I hope President Cosgrave may share that weakness a little and that, for Ireland's sake, he may remain a long time in office. For the old land needs such young men as he."

Confers His Blessing.

Turning toward the president the white-haired priest in cassock and biretta directed upon him a tender gaze and added:

"May the blessing of God descend upon your devoted head! May you live long and prosper for your own sake and for the sake of Ireland!"

The celebrant of the mass was Fr. Edward Broderick of St. Patrick's, the deacon; Fr. Michael O'Sullivan of St. Bridget's, county chaplain of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, and the subdeacon, Fr. Frank Reynolds of St. Fibar's.

Elaborate Musical Setting.

The musical setting of the occasion was especially elaborate. Its principal feature was the "Missa in Honorem Immaculatae Conceptionis B. V. M." by Dr. J. Lewis Browne, a celebrated ecclesiastical composer, who presided at the organ. As offertory, Dana's "Ave Maria" was sung with thrilling effect by Miss Betty Massma.

A homey touch which Mr. Cosgrave much liked was the singing by the choir, during the nonliturgical part of the service, of "The Dear Little Shamrock," beginning—

There's a dear little plant that grows in our isle,
'Twas St. Patrick himself sure that set it.

The majestic dismissal of the mass, "Ite! Missa est"—uttered by Father Broderick—had a double significance for the kneeling presidential party. Their "family visit" in Chicago was over. After briefly taking refreshment in the parish house they were escorted to the nearby Union station by Mr. Kilkenny and Michael J. Faherty. There they were received by Howard Shaw and W. P. Redmond, Pennsylvania railroad officials, and escorted to the private car of the road's vice president, T. B. Hamilton. This will be at their disposal for the rest of their American tour.

Chicago Visit Unmarred.

At 10:30 o'clock President Cosgrave's train departed, and Capt. John Egan of Des Plaines street station withdrew his police and took a long breath of relief. "The most anxious twenty-four hours," said he, "which the police department has spent in many a year is over. And not one ugly thing happened, thank God!"

But amid the minor incidents this pleasant thing happened:

Among the scores upon scores of visiting cards left upon the president of the Irish Free State yesterday and the day before this one was left:

Mr. Herbert A. Richards
His Britannic Majesty's Consul General

IRISH REPUBLICANS OF CHICAGO TO GIVE DE VALERA BANQUET

Irish republicans are invited next Thursday night to honor their chief, Eamonn De Valera, who is returning to Ireland to resume in the Dail his fight against President William T. Cosgrave and for the Irish republic. Arrangements for a banquet at the Hotel Sherman were completed last night by the committee of one hundred, which is to have charge of the affair, and several extra rooms were authorized in anticipation of an overflow crowd.

"It will be an outpouring of the friends of De Valera," said William P. Lyndon, national secretary and treasurer of the Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic. "It will be a genuine showing of how the Irish in America and their friends really feel about the Irish situation. The demonstration through which Chicago has just passed for the president of the Free State was entirely artificial and that will soon become known."

De Valera will be the only speaker at the banquet.

BRITISH WOMEN ASK EQUALITY IN STATE HONORS

Demand Positions in Privy Council.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The knighting of women and their inclusion in the house of lords may become a common spectacle if the Women's Freedom league has its way. Aroused by the comparatively few women's names appearing in the recent New Year honor list, that organization has addressed a protest to the prime minister.

The committee expresses the opinion that it is time to throw open all honors equally to men and women. It is even suggested that the Order of the British Empire was created merely to satisfy the women and quiet their demands for the more colorful honors.

Want Women in House of Lords.

"We feel, too, that the time has come when women ought to be made privy councillors," a member of the committee said. "Dame Millicent Fawcett should certainly be made a privy councillor, and should sit in the house of lords as a senior stateswoman."

It is pointed out that peerages were conferred upon two Conservative members of parliament and a former governor general of Nigeria, while a former Conservative member of parliament and the parliamentary secretary to the ministry of health have been made privy councillors. It is asked why the duchess of Atholl, member of parliament, who is parliamentary secretary to the board of education, did not receive similar recognition.

Barred from Diplomacy.

"Unfortunately, British women are excluded from holding posts in the diplomatic and consular services, the government services of the colonies, and the Indian civil service," a spokesman for the committee said. "Can it be that there isn't a woman serving in some of the higher posts of the home civil service who is worthy of an honor?"

F. L. SMITH CASE SUPPLIES POWDER FOR DEMOCRATS

Preparing to Make Use of It in Campaign.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—[Special.]—Republican senators who voted against the exclusion of Frank L. Smith, senator-elect from Illinois, are to become the targets of the Democratic campaign managers.

The Smith and Vare cases are to be made an issue in coming senatorial campaigns just as were the Lorimer and Newberry cases. Having in mind their success in retiring from office various Republican senators who voted for Lorimer or for Newberry, the Democrats propose to hammer away at the issue.

Some Democrats Switch.

With this expectation, Democratic leaders succeeded in keeping all but two of their number in line for the exclusion of Smith. These two were Senator Blease [S. C.], who says he recognizes no leadership, and Senator Steck [Ia.].

In the vote denying Smith the right to take the oath in December, several additional Democrats were recorded for Smith, but a modification of the Reed resolution, which struck out the clause reiterating the senate's position on the denial of the oath, caused these minority party members to swing over to the other side.

It will be contended by the Democrats that support of Smith meant approval of the use of an excessive sum in senatorial campaigns, acquiescence in the acceptance of contributions from officials of public utility corporations and ignored the fact that Smith was alleged to have violated a state law in accepting gifts from such a source while chairman of the Illinois commerce commission.

Repeat Old Argument.

The Reed resolution as adopted in the Smith case included a clause from the Newberry resolution, which was used as an issue in campaigns during the last few years. This clause asserted that the acceptance and expenditure of the sums of money in question was "contrary to sound public policy, harmful to the dignity and honor of the state, and dangerous to the perpetuity of free government."

Of the twenty-one Republicans who voted against the exclusion of Smith six come up for reelection this year, eight in 1930, and seven in 1932. Those facing a campaign this year are Senators Hale [Me.], Greene [Vt.], McLean [Conn.], Reed [Pa.], Fess [O.], and Cutting [N. M.].

Issue in Years to Come.

The senators who must make campaigns for reelection in 1930 are Deneen [Ill.], Gillett [Mass.], Gould [Me.], Keyes [N. H.], Metcalf [R. I.], Pine [Okla.], Phipps [Colo.], and Warren [Wyo.].

Those coming up for reelection in 1932 are Senators Bingham [Conn.], Moses [N. H.], Watson [Ind.], Waterman [Colo.], Smoot [Utah], Oddie [Nev.], and Shortridge [Cal.].

The Democrats, in talking of the Smith case as a campaign issue, refuse to be disturbed by the fact that Republican senators will defend their votes on the ground that no other action would have been consistent with the doctrine of state rights, which the Democrats themselves emphasize so much.

It is regarded as significant that the two senators who are avowed candidates for the Republican presidential nomination, Senators Curtis [Kas.] and Willis [O.], both voted for the exclusion of Smith, although ordinarily they line up with the regulars who supported Smith.

BATTLE TO SAVE WOMAN WITH OXYGEN FAILS

A 25 hour fight by firemen with an oxygen inhalator for the life of Mrs. Esther M. Englund, 53 years old, 4833 Dakin street, was lost yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Mrs. Englund died.

Mrs. Englund, wife of Charles Englund, a carpenter, was stricken with pneumonia last week and lost consciousness Friday afternoon. At 2:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon a fire department squad led by Lieut. Benjamin Martin, was called in and began administration of oxygen to the woman. She would have died immediately except for this assistance, physicians said.

WOMAN WRITER AND ARCHITECT ARE ASPHYXIATED

New York, Jan. 22.—[Special.]—Willhelm Fredericks, 33, a German architect, came to this country last May, but due to his ignorance of English was doing odd carpenter jobs to support himself. Early today he was at work making bookcases for Miss Grace Poole, 32, a short story writer, in her two room apartment.

The gas pipe in the kitchen was leaking while Fredericks worked. Miss Poole was asleep in the bedroom. At noon, both were found dead by Mrs. Marie Walters, who lives in the same building.

The pipe was found broken in an elbow, and police said that it probably was wrenched loose by Fredericks as he clutched it an effort to get down from a ladder.

Hospital Patient Killed in Five Story Plunge

Theodore Telfer, 41 years old, of Morris, Ill., was killed yesterday morning when he fell or leaped from a fifth story window of the Michael Reese hospital. A nurse discovered the body after Telfer's absence from his room had been noted. He had been at the hospital for four days and was undergoing observation for a nervous condition.

BIG NAVY MEN INVITING WAR, BORAH DECLARES

Taxpayers Are Warned to Call Halt.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—[Special.]—"Big navy" advocates in congress and in the navy itself—Admiral C. F. Hughes, chief of operations, and Rear Admiral C. P. Plunkett—were targets for severe criticism from Senator W. E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] today.

Denouncing the huge naval building program now pending before the house naval affairs committee, the senator warns taxpayers that unless they "make themselves heard" they must prepare to shoulder new tax burdens.

"Some months ago," said the senator, "it was proposed to add a limited number of cruisers to 'round out' our navy and give reasonable protection to our commerce. That was a reasonable proposal.

Largest Navy in World.

"That proposal has now developed into a program for the largest navy in the world and a billion dollars to begin with, and added to this, is a notice that this navy is not for protection of our commerce but for war, immediate and inevitable war."

"Unless the taxpayers of this country make themselves heard," continued the senator, "they may well prepare for a deluge in the way of additional tax burdens. Not only will there be no reduction of taxes, but taxes will necessarily be increased in the near future."

Senator Borah cited the testimony of Admiral Hughes advocating the huge construction program and intimating that "he was anticipating trouble." Added to this, according to the senator, comes Admiral Plunkett's assertion in a public address yesterday that war is not only inevitable, but near at hand, and that it probably will be with Great Britain.

Warns Britain to Get Ready.

"These statements, put out by naval officers," declared Senator Borah, "are notice to all the world, and particularly Great Britain, to get ready for war. They are being so interpreted throughout the world. I regard such declarations as mischievous to the last degree. Even if these men have worked themselves into this state of mind, it is incredible that they should state their views publicly.

"Those who must pay the taxes and do the fighting and dying in case these people succeed in bringing on war ought not delay in taking part in this program. They are entitled to be heard before this mad policy becomes fixed."

Approve 25 Cruiser Bill.

There are strong indications that the naval construction bill now before the house naval affairs committee will be reported out favorably within a few days. A possibility still exists that some of the 32 submarines provided in the bill may be deleted, but a poll of the committee membership indicates that the bill finally reported out will bear strong resemblance to its present form.

As the measure stands it provides for 25 cruisers, considered a minimum need by the navy department; 32 submarines; nine destroyer leaders, and five aircraft carriers. The total cost is estimated at well over $700,000,000.

Completion of this program by 1936 would give the United States a fleet containing 18 battleships, the Washington treaty limit; 43 cruisers, 52 submarines fewer than 13 years old, nine destroyer leaders, and seven aircraft carriers.

As most of the American destroyers become at least 12 years old in 1932, the value of the 325,000 tons of destroyer tonnage, eliminating the destroyer leaders, would be a matter of speculation.

Committee members apparently are in full sympathy with the navy's desire for additional cruisers.

FOUND DEAD IN DOORWAY.

An unidentified man about 50 years old was found dead, apparently from heart disease, early yesterday morning in a doorway at 617 West Madison street. The initials "E. M." were tatooed on his right arm.

DEMAND INQUIRY ON EX-CONVICTS AS DRY SNOOPERS

Wet Block in House Gets Behind Resolution.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—[Special.]—Members of the house wet bloc are preparing to join Representative Vincent L. Palmisano [Dem., Md.] in a demand for a congressional investigation of charges that John F. J. Herbert, prohibition administrator in the Maryland-District of Columbia area, has employed ex-convicts and thugs to enforce the dry law and has sanctioned a "shoot to kill" policy.

Mr. Palmisano, a new member from Baltimore, who succeeded former Representative John Philip Hill, will appear during the coming week before the house rules committee to bespeak a favorable report on his resolution to authorize the creation of a special investigating committee.

Have Criminal Records.

The resolution, introduced last Tuesday, charges that Col. Herbert has employed agents known to have criminal records and that when these ex-convicts are accused of new crimes while ostensibly enforcing prohibition, he calls upon the federal district attorney at Baltimore to defend them.

Among the outrages listed by Mr. Palmisano in his resolution is the murder of Charles V. Gundlach, 73 year old Maryland farmer, who was killed on his doorstep by prohibition agents when he sought to prevent an unauthorized search of his premises. The resolution reviews the indictment of the four agents in a state court and the immediate intervention of the federal attorney who succeeded in having a Baltimore District court assume jurisdiction over the killers.

Gundlach was slain last September, but the trial of the killing agents was only set recently for Jan. 30 and meanwhile the slayers have been free on bonds. One of them, Randolph Brewer, returned to his dry squad and continued to make raids until protests lodged at Washington resulted in his assignment to clerical work pending the trial.

Assaulting Women.

"He [Herbert] has promoted Prohibition Agent Robert E. Beall," according to Palmisano's resolution, "who has been indicted by the grand jury of the state of Maryland for assaulting and beating two women.

"He has in his department one Harry C. Wimbley, as an under cover buyer, who had been convicted of the crime and robbery and sentenced to six years in the Maryland state penitentiary. Wimbley has since been indicted by the grand jury of the state of Maryland for assault with intent to kill and carrying a deadly weapon, on which charge the United States attorney for the district of Maryland is defending him at the request of Prohibition Administrator John F. J. Herbert."

"It seems to me," declared Mr. Palmisano, discussing his resolution, "that the prohibition administration from the chief administrator down have no respect for the constitution. When you violate the Volstead act you are informed you are a nullifier. The violation is not of a provision of the constitution but of an act of congress.

"To enforce that particular law they disregard all provisions of the constitution and take the law into their own hands as if they were czars."

START INQUIRY INTO BLAST AND FIRE AT STORE; LOSS $35,000

Inquiry was started yesterday by Fire Attorney Scott M. Hogan into circumstances surrounding an explosion followed by a fire at the dress shop of I. H. May, 6342 South Halsted street, which within a few moments had consumed garments valued at $35,000. Mr. May, who was ordered to report to the fire attorney's office today with his records, stated that the 200 or more dresses burned had been insured for their full value.

Because of the fireproof construction of the three story building containing the dress shop, the flames did not spread, fire department officials said. But dense clouds of smoke, drifting into the third floor windows, drove the members of six families to the street.

Attorney Hogan said he was puzzled to account for the explosion. He said the fact that the doors of the shop were found locked when firemen arrived was another feature about which he wished to question May.

Two other fires occurred in the same neighborhood shortly afterward. Traffic was blocked at 63d street and Cottage Grove avenue while firemen extinguished a blaze in a heap of rubbish in the rear of the Alice Mae dress shop, 6314 Cottage Grove avenue. Crossed wires were held responsible for a fire in the basement of a fur shop at 656 East 63d street shortly after noon.

POLICE ACT TO TAKE SHOW OUT OF THEIR SHOWUP

Deputy Commissioner of Police William E. O'Connor yesterday announced that he would have to take steps to prevent the weekly police showup of criminals at the Des Plaines street station from becoming merely a show.

So many spectators attended and laughed and giggled so much that victims of robberies had difficulty in making their selections from the 275 prisoners paraded before them. Next week, Commissioner O'Connor said, the robbery victims will be given cards of admission and all others will be barred.

Frank Cawley, 26 years old, 2722 West Jackson boulevard, was pointed out during the afternoon as the perpetrator of thirty holdups. He was also identified as a bomber. Twenty other men were identified, and the police announced that the showup solved 110 robbery cases.

FREEDOM OF AIR STIRS CLASH OF U. S. AND LATINS

Yankees Seek to Guard Canal from Spies.

in Central America, but the big gap is in Colombia and Ecuador. A new route east of the Andes is to be discussed.

Like Hughes' Speech.

Among Latin-Americans there seemed to be a favorable reaction today to the address by Charles Evans Hughes, chief of the American delegation last night, frankly discussing American intervention in the Caribbean countries and promising our withdrawal from Haiti and Nicaragua as we withdrew from Santo Domingo and from Cuba. It was commented upon by South and Central American delegates as an extremely reassuring note sounded by the United States on the eve of consideration by the conference of matters involving American policies south of the Rio Grande.

Some who were inclined to be critical observed, however, that it would have been much better had the assurances given by Mr. Hughes been forthcoming from President Coolidge in his Havana address last Monday.

So far the widely advertised drive that was to be made against the United States has received little support.

Mexico Proposes Reorganization.

The Mexican delegation will bring before a conference committee tomorrow a proposal for changes in the government of the Pan-American union which are aimed at the domination which the United States is accused of exercising over this organization at present. The Latin American members of the governing board of the union are Latin American diplomats accredited to Washington. The Mexicans would provide for the appointment of members other than diplomats on the ground that the South and Central American diplomats in Washington are under the thumb of our state department.

Originally the American secretary of state was automatically chairman of the governing board. Five years ago the Latin Americans procured a change, whereby the chairman is elected, but the Latins were so jealous of each other that the only chairman they have been able to agree on is the American secretary of state.

Would Pass Chairmanship Around.

The Mexicans propose to pass the chairmanship around the countries alphabetically, so that each one would preside only once in twenty-one years. That makes no hit at all with the larger South American countries. The Mexicans also are seeking to make Dr. L. S. Rowe ineligible to continue as director general of the union.

None of these proposals will get anywhere. All the American delegation needs to do is stand aside and let Mexico's Latin brethren dispose of Mexico's movement, aimed at the United States. Suggestions have been heard that the seat of the Pan-American Union be removed from Washington, but public opinion in many Latin-American countries probably would be against this, for the farmers and planters in South and Central America for years have been obtaining invaluable assistance through the Pan-American Union from the American department of agriculture.

The Mexicans have also proposed an amendment proposing that political powers shall not be conferred on the Pan-American union. That proposal is acceptable to the United States and the larger South American republics which are opposed to clothing the union with powers to interfere in disputes between any of the American nations.

Small Nations Seek More Power.

Some of the smaller republics have been agitating for such extension of the powers of the union for the purpose of restricting intervention by the United States or the policing of the Caribbean. The scheme is to prohibit intervention by any state without the consent of the union.

Mexico was expected to line up in support of this proposal but has disappointed the authors of the scheme. It is said that a factor of the Mexican decision to oppose the move is the present controversy between the Mexican government and the Catholic church. Mexico had a vision of coercion by nineteen Catholic Latin-American countries if the union should be clothed with political powers.

SPEED MEASURE TO ABOLISH THE SHORT SESSION

Congressmen Also Rush Reapportionment Bill.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—[Special.]—Two important measures—a proposal for a constitutional amendment to abolish "short sessions" of congress and another to authorize reapportionment of congressional representation—have been given preferential status on the legislative program of the house and assured of support by the leaders who heretofore mustered majorities to kill them.

The White "lame duck session" resolution, a modification of the Norris resolution passed recently by the senate, has been favorably reported by the house committee on the election of the president and vice president, and it was indicated today, will be called up for passage some time during the coming week. Similar measures passed successively by the senate in the preceding congresses have been killed in the house.

Would Redistribute Seats.

It was announced that the house census committee has scheduled hearings on the Fenn bill which proposes a redistribution of house seats on the basis of the 1930 census to be effective in the seventy-third congress. Representative John Q. Tilson [Conn.], the Republican leader, has promised early consideration of the bill.

The White resolution, offered by the house committee as a substitute for the Norris measure, provides for the submission of a constitutional amendment under which the terms of the president and vice president would begin on Jan. 24 and the terms of newly elected members of congress would begin on Jan. 4, following their election in the preceding November.

Both resolutions have as their aim the abolishment of the "interregnum" between the election of congressmen and the assembly of a new congress during which time members repudiated by their constituencies continue to vote upon legislation for at least three months.

Changes Made in Bills.

In recommending Jan. 24 for the beginning of the presidential term, the house committee report argues that a 20 day period between the assembly of congress and the inauguration of the new president will allow ample time for a canvass of the electoral votes and for the choice of a president in event the election is thrown into the house.

The principal difference between the White and Norris resolutions is that the former provides that in even numbered years the congressional session shall end automatically on May 4, while the Norris resolution includes no limitation on the length of the sessions. Advocates of the Norris measure have urged as its greatest merit the fact that with no limit on the length of sessions it would eliminate the possibility of filibusters in the closing hours of a session.

In its report the house committee defends the May 4 adjournment provision as "a wise one," under which representatives and the one-third of the senate membership who must campaign for reëlection may return to their districts without neglecting their legislative duties. It provides, the report declares, a four month session, uninterrupted by holidays, and nearly double the time of the "short session" under prevailing conditions.

W. C. T. U. FIGHTS BRENNAN-SMITH PRIMARY "PLOT"

Carbondale, Ill., Jan. 22.—[Special.]—The Carbondale chapter of the Women's Christian Temperance union has started a movement to stem the Al Smith tide in this section of Illinois, which they visualize in the present primary law tangle. They say "they see" the subtle hand of George E. Brennan, Illinois Democratic chieftain, along with that of the New York governor.

The women by resolution urged the Democratic women of this district and other voters to appeal to the legislators to support measures which permit the Illinois special session of the legislature to frame a legal process by which the primary in this section can be held in April.

If not, the resolutions declare, "Brennan will appoint the delegates himself."

The resolutions further declare that the lines are being drawn for the coming presidential election, with "the wet forces on the offensive."

Mrs. Edith Chapman is president of the organization.

NEW 'STORMING OF BASTILE' IN PARIS FOILED

7,200 Police Stop Coup of 10,000 Reds.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Jan. 22.—A communist trick, aimed to effect the release of two Red deputies from Sante prison by force, failed tonight, after a tense afternoon and evening, during which 7,200 police and mounted republican guards patrolled the boulevards or stood in dark streets awaiting the zero hour.

But it was only due to the quick wit of the police generalissimo, Prefect Chiappe, that there was no zero hour and that Paris was saved from another night like Aug. 23, when the Sacco-Vanzetti riots occurred.

"Death to Bourgeoise."

Ten thousand Reds, carrying banners with the slogans, "Death to the bourgeoise" and "A general amnesty," assembled in the communist suburb of La Valois-Perret, ostensibly to lay a wreath at the grave of Louise Michel, the Red Joan of Arc, who was killed in the street fighting in Paris during the last day of the commune of 1871.

But, marching with military precision, with communist youths—bobbed haired girls, red scarfs about their necks, as well as boys—serving as scouts and messengers, the Reds suddenly swerved toward the city gates. The Red general staff had quietly passed the word along the line, "On to Sante prison."

The line of march would have taken them right across town, with the prospect of serious disturbances and untold damage. Five thousand police were massed at the city gates and in all the west end of Paris to prevent this, but, to their astonishment, they saw the Red ranks suddenly melt, the marchers dive into subway entrances and waiting taxicabs—all the taxi drivers of Paris are Reds. Thus the Red general staff won the first move.

Radio a Warning.

But M. Chiappe, who is proud that he comes from Corsica, like Napoleon, was not so stupid. A dozen police patrols, equipped with wireless, installed at every gate, began crackling warnings to headquarters.

While the police at the gates were unable to get across town in time on horses, bicycles, and antiquated trucks, the mobile brigade, held in reserve down town, drew up in front of Sante prison fifteen minutes before the Red army, speeding on the subways and in taxis, arrived and began to assemble a few blocks away. The bolshevik chieftains took a good look and promptly postponed the taking of the bastile to another day.

Hint at Moscow Aid.

Certain Conservative papers are seeking tonight to link up the revival of the Red violence with replacement by Ambassador Dovgalevsky of former Russian Ambassador Christian Rakovsky.

The government tonight instituted proceedings against the official communist organ, Humanite, after seizing last night's special edition calling on the garrison in Paris to revolt. Vigorous efforts are being made to trace the authors of the circulars left on the doorsteps of every gendarme in Paris this morning, signed, "a group of fellow cops," urging them not to resist today's assault by the Red troops.

REDS ON MARCH

Communists of Paris gathered in La Vallois-Perret, a suburb outside the city's walls, yesterday, and attempted a march on Sante prison to release two Red deputies, who are held there. The 10,000 Reds tried to defeat the police in the race for the prison by suddenly taking to cabs and the subway, but the mobile section of the police, warned by radio, reached the prison first.

DON'T SURRENDER EQUALIZING FEE, LOWDEN'S STAND

'Compromise' Farm Bill Worthless, He Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—[Special.]—Enactment of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, minus the equalization fee, would be "surrender, and not compromise," in the opinion of former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois.

Necessity for the retention of the controversial equalization fee was urged by Mr. Lowden today in commenting on the situation in congress where the passage of a compromise measure without this provision has become a possibility.

Mr. Lowden, who came to Washington to attend the funeral yesterday of his old friend in congress, John W. Dwight, gave some consideration to the legislative situation today in a conference with Representative Dickinson [Rep., Ia.], one of the leading supporters of the McNary-Haugen bill.

Would Be Surrender.

Mr. Lowden made it plain that he would prefer no legislation at this session rather than the passage of a bill without the equalization fee. His attitude is counted upon by Representative Dickinson and others active in the fight for the McNary-Haugen bill to stiffen up some of the Republican members of the house committee on agriculture who, during the last few days have signified an intention to report the measure without the equalization fee.

"I am for compromise always," said Mr. Lowden. "Without the equalization fee, or something like it, the bill would represent surrender and not compromise.

"The situation is simply this: The coöperatives that are purely marketing associations are running up against the same difficulty all the time in their efforts to maintain a fair price. This is that the nonmembers get the full benefit of the improved price while the members have borne all the expense.

All Benefit, No Expense.

"Until some method is found whereby the added expense is spread over all the producers, a successful cooperative organization cannot be maintained. This is what the equalization fee undertakes to do."

The marketing coöperatives have gone about as far as they can without something similar to the equalization fee. In view of the fact that this is the vital need of the coöperatives, to omit the equalization fee would be surrender.

"I would not favor legislation without the fee just for the sake of getting some sort of a farm relief bill on the books."

SECOND U. OF C. STUDENT CHOSEN RHODES SCHOLAR

Eugene William Goodwillie, 5010 Drexel boulevard, a law student at the University of Chicago, yesterday was notified that he had been appointed the 1928 Rhodes scholar at large from the United States. The scholarship carries with it £400 a year for a three year course at Oxford university, England.

Mr. Goodwillie is 23 years old and is the son of M. P. Goodwillie, a box manufacturer. He was graduated from the University High school in 1923. He then went to Cornell university, where he attracted attention both for scholarship and proficiency in studies. For three years he made an athletic letter, being an outstanding sprinter, and was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity. He was graduated last year, after being elected president of the senior class and of the student council.

His selection, which is subject to ratification by the Rhodes trustees, was made known by Dr. Frank Aydelotte, president of Swarthmore college and secretary in America for the trustees. He is the second University of Chicago student appointed to a Rhodes scholarship in the last month, the other, who represents the state of Illinois, being John McDonough, football star.

Fighters Stop 'Battle,' Rob Onlookers and Take Cab

A rousing fist fight was in progress at La Salle and 61st streets early yesterday. Jack Dempsey, 7842 Emerald avenue, a cab driver, and his passenger, Charles Ziglis, 1219 South Wabash avenue, stopped and watched interestedly. The two fighters then produced revolvers and held up the onlookers, getting $17 from Dempsey, $4 from Ziglis, and driving away in the cab. Five men, one an ex-policeman, were arrested and held for questioning last night.

COUPLE BLASTS POLICE THEORY OF INN MURDER

One police theory in the slaying by two bandits of Alfred Smith, 64 years old, on Saturday night during an attempted holdup of the White House tavern in Niles Center, was exploded yesterday when Mrs. Carol Stevens, 21 years old, and her husband, Jack Stevens, 23, of 7609 Bosworth avenue, went to the Evanston police station.

Newspaper accounts of the murder had stated that an unidentified young woman and three men had been seen to hurriedly leave Doetsch's roadhouse nearby, which the bandits robbed of $300 before visiting the White House tavern. These persons, it was stated, were being sought as possible confederates of the bandits.

"My husband, myself, and two friends of ours were in Doetsch's place playing cards, and I guess we are the 'suspects' referred to, but we didn't even know anything was happening until it was all over," said Mrs. Stevens.

Mrs. Stevens and her husband later visited the Morton Grove police station to tell their stories.

PARACHUTE LEAP FAILS TO SET NEW DISTANCE MARK

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 22.—(AP)—A parachute jump in which John Tranum, stunt man, attempted to break the record distance for failing before opening his chute, failed to establish any definite mark today. Expected official timers failed to appear, and Tranum, who dropped off an airplane wing at 7,500 feet, said his stop watch stuck, preventing him from timing himself.

Tranum estimated that he fell about 4,000 feet before pulling the parachute ring. The record fall is 4,200 feet. Another attempt will be made next Sunday.

SPECIAL LEVIES URGED TO BUILD LAKE DRIVE LINK

Lincoln Park Advised It Has Assessing Power.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The use of special assessments has been suggested to the Lincoln park commissioners as the method for constructing the north part of the boulevard link between the South park and Lincoln park systems. By this method of payment, in place of general taxation, a considerable part of the cost would be assessed against the Chicago Dock and Canal company.

W. O. Green, manager of this company, is credited with urging the discarding of the boulevard plan recommended by the Chicago Plan commission and substituting another route which would run around the Dock and Canal property and add $2,644,612 to the cost. The engineers of the plan commission have made estimates of the cost of each proposal.

Figures Show Cost Difference.

The difference in the cost of the route recommended by the plan commission, No. 2, and that urged by Mr. Green, No. 3, is shown by the following tabulation:

Route—	No. 2. Direct.	No. 3. Indirect.
Land and buildings	$1,725,514	Easement.
Construction	6,872,374	$11,942,500
Totals	$8,597,888	$11,942,500

Mr. Green questions the accuracy of these estimates. In the plan commission figures, the engineers have estimated that Mr. Green's company is entitled to approximately $1,340,000. Mr. Green thinks his damages and rights are worth about $1,000,000 more. Even if that is allowed by the court, where the matter must be decided, the direct boulevard route through the Dock and Canal property would still cost $1,600,000 less than the longer and indirect route suggested by Mr. Green.

According to the program of the plan commission, the south parks would bear approximately $2,893,000 of the cost and Lincoln park, $4,703,000. In the more than three years that the matter has been seriously discussed it has been assumed that each park board would pay its share through general taxation.

Estimate Division of Expense.

But within the last week it has been suggested to the Lincoln park board that it levy a special assessment for its share of the expense on all the property in the area bounded by Chicago avenue, Michigan avenue, the river, and the lake. The board has been advised that it has the same power as the south park commission to levy special assessments.

The route sponsored by the plan commission runs directly through the property of Mr. Green's company, and property adjacent to the boulevard would be benefited much more than property one or four blocks away. The special assessment would be proportionately heavier. In major improvements by the city the special assessments have often more than offset the damage done to particular pieces of property.

The plan commission has recommended that the Lincoln park board start condemnation proceedings at once to obtain the right of way over the route recommended.

BRAZIL BETTERS FINANCE BY AID TO COFFEE TRADE

Institute Control Keeps Prices Steady.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAO PAULO, Jan. 22.—With so large a percentage of Brazil's exports depending on the production of coffee, state and federal finance have been closely linked with the cherry red berries of the coffee shrub for many years. Production varies to such an extent [between 650 and 2,600 pounds per thousand trees] that for a long time every harvest brought wide fluctuations in price and resulting disorganization of trade and revenue budgets.

The world production of coffee is increasing at a pace which just about offsets the increase in consumption. But while one year's crop from Brazil may be just about enough to meet the needs of the coffee drinkers of the world for that period, another may fall far short.

To meet this situation and keep prices steady, the Brazilian government in 1924 organized the coffee institute, an organization which finances growers and warehouses the product, releasing a fixed amount each month in order to stabilize the flow of coffee on the world markets.

Solves Planters' Problem.

The coffee bean does not deteriorate in storage; it actually improves. Growers, however, are forced to dispose of their crops at once in order to finance the next year's operations. The problem of taking the coffee off the hands of the planter without throwing it immediately on the world market has been solved by the coffee institute.

This organization, in little more than three years of operation, has met with unqualified success. Coffee production has been so regulated that supply and demand on the world market closely coincide, and for three years a steady price has been maintained. This has been of vast importance not only for the grower and consumer, but in regulating the finances of the state of Sao Paulo. It has given the state a sound financial footing. Federal finances also have been improved greatly.

The operation of the scheme is simple. The institute has a fund of $50,000,000 to draw up, the product of the valorization loan of 1925. The railways assist the state institutions in every way.

Gathering the Crop.

The first step in the journey of the coffee bean from plantation to consumer is, of course, the gathering. The berries, each containing two beans, are brought to the headquarters of the big plantations and there split open, cleaned and dried on immense cement floors open to sun and air. The coffee is then packed into bags and sent to the nearest "control" warehouse.

Employés of the institute mark every bag of coffee received with its date, and shipments from "control" to main warehouses in Sao Paulo and Santos are made in the order of receipt from the plantations. The planters draw on their agents to the extent of 60 per cent of the estimated selling value of the crop. This operation is financed by the institute.

Coffee Graded and Repacked.

At the main warehouses the coffee is graded, mixed, and blended, to insure uniformity of product, and repacked. By this time transport and taxes have added about $4.50 to the cost of the coffee per bag of 132 pounds. This includes 42 cents for the gold tax and $2 for the state export tax.

The Brazilian crop is picked at one harvest. Production conditions are such that the growers of Sao Paulo and other Brazilian states will be able to control the market for many years.

Brazil is constantly improving the quality of its coffee. It has about $500,000,000 invested in coffee estates, and the average net return on the investment is about 25 per cent—a handsome figure for such huge capital.

POLICE GUARD VICAR, JEERED BY CHURCHMEN

DARWEN, Lancashire, England, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Demonstrations against the alleged Anglo-Catholicism of the vicar, the Rev. F. B. Lauria, occurred in St. Cuthberts' church here today.

Mild protests have occurred in recent Sundays coincident with the rejection of the revised prayer book by the house of commons, but today, the first Sunday after publication of the Malines conversations, which were intended to bring about reunion of the Anglican and Catholic churches, 400 persons joined in the demonstration.

The parishioners protested against the "sung eucharist" by persistently singing hymns and preventing the progress of the service. "One man in the congregation took advantage of a momentary silence to read the 31st article of the prayer book, which denounces sacrifice of the mass as a blasphemous fable.

When the vicar left the church he had police protection and was followed by approximately 1,000 demonstrators, who were booing him.

MANDEL BROTHERS

*The 1928 way of doing things

When we have a task we want to accomplish, when we have a definite objective, or any great aim in view, we first form a mental concept of the thing desired. The tremendous changes now taking place in Mandel Brothers, the big things we are doing, are the unfoldment of an ideal we have long had in mind.

Where there is no ideal, there is no development, no progress, no attainment. The activity which has manifested itself within this institution since the first of the year tends toward completion of our projected plan to serve the public in a finer way than ever before.

Our great clearance sale and the many construction changes you notice in the building are all part of our blue-print idea of the goal toward which we are aspiring.

CO-OP SOCIETIES OF BRITAIN GAIN IN MEMBERSHIP

$50,000,000 Growth in Assets Reported.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Industrial provident and coöperative societies throughout Great Britain are rapidly growing in membership. They added 215,000 names to their rolls during 1925, according to the report which has just been made by the chief registrar of friendly societies for 1926.

Although returns for the year 1925, as received from 5,765 societies, showed a decrease of 36 returns, as compared with 1924, the increase in assets amounted to approximately $50,000,000.

The repot further states that, in the aggregate, there has also been a continued expansion both in the sales and in the quantities of goods wholly or partly produced by societies in the movement, although in some districts, societies were adversely affected by local industrial conditions.

Hop Growers Open Agency.

An interestin feature of the year's activities was the establishment by a body of hop growers of a central marketing agency which took over the hop control peviously exercised by the governmen. Although no business was transacted by this society during 1925, the first return furnished up to Sept. 1, 1926, showed the sales in respect of the 1925 hop consignments had realized more than $10,000,000 up to that date.

It is interesting to note that the largest losses revealed in the final accounts of the societies which were liquidated, are those that were sustained by socities in the agricultural group.

Two free drinks per day to all workmen employed in altering its quarters has been found by the registrar to be responsible for the year's loss of about $4,500 which was sustained by a Yorkshire club. The organization had begun the year with a credit balance of more than $5,000. Also responsible for the deficit, according to the registrar, is the free treat which was given to 500 workmen when the building alterations had been completed.

Smaller than Pre-War Buying.

It is pointed out that the average member is still purchasing a smaller amount of goods than before the war, the immediate pre-war average of sales per member being about $150, as compared with a subsequent average of from $100 to $125.

With regard to the farming operations carried on by the affiliated socities, it is reported that the total acreage of farms owned and worked during 1925 was 18,504, comprising 10,600 acres of pasture and meadow, 7,387 acres arable, and 317 acres of fruit trees, etc.

A marked increase in the activities of the housing societies more recently registered, is reported. Expenditures on land, buildings, and general development, amounted to $5,000,000 for 1925, as compared with $3,000,000 in 1924.

THREE BOATS AID FERRY GROUNDED WITH 52 ON BOARD

Three boats were striving yesterday to release the Grand Trunk car ferry Madison from a sandbar near the south pier at Grand Haven, Mich., where it went aground Saturday evening during a strong gale.

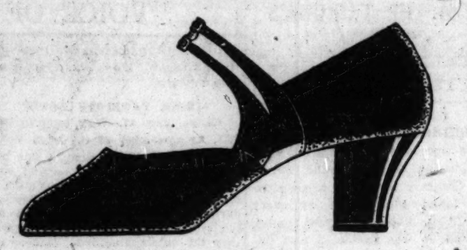

On the ferry are twenty-six freight cars and fifty-two persons, including the crew. The bar is only about a hundred yards off shore and in case of necessity the passengers and crew, it was said, could reach land over the shore ice. It was also reported that ample supplies of food and fuel were on board.

THE CHICAGO HARBOR.

Under the auspices of the Commercial club, which also fostered the Chicago plan, Maj. Rufus Putnam has sketched a plan for the development of the Chicago harbor. The task was undertaken in anticipation of the completion of the Gulf and St. Lawrence waterways. Without adequate barge terminals, it is obvious Chicago cannot reap the full advantage of connection with the Mississippi river; and, without docks for seagoing ships, there is little to be gained from the improvement of the St. Lawrence.

Maj. Putnam was chosen for the task of planning the harbor because of the knowledge of Chicago and its waterways which he acquired as resident engineer of the war department. There will be little quarrel with most of the features of the Putnam plan. He proposes to develop Lake Calumet primarily as a barge terminal to serve heavy industries located around it and also for interchange of freight between barge and rail lines. A terminal for ocean and lake ships will be built to the south of the mouth of the Calumet river. Here bulk cargoes will be handled, with facilities for interchange between lake and barge lines. A terminal for interchange between rail and barge lines will be constructed in the vicinity of Crawford and Cicero avenues, along the drainage canal, and this site will also serve local industries. If it becomes inadequate, the transfer from water to rail, and vice versa, can be taken care of south of Joliet.

The point in Maj. Putnam's scheme upon which there is likely to be considerable diversity of opinion is his proposal to accommodate lake passengers and package freight at the mouth of the river, at the Municipal pier, and, if the demand warrants its construction, at another pier just south of the river mouth. This proposal is open to serious objections. At present there is no railroad connection directly to the existing pier, and the carrying capacity of the North Western's track along the north bank of the river, which might be extended to the pier, can scarcely be expanded beyond present requirements, except at heavy cost. The existence of another freight terminal so close to the loop will add greatly to the congestion of traffic in the most congested area in the city, while the presence of the terminals at the mouth of the river can hardly avoid marring the beauty of the lake front development.

The package freight service which Maj. Putnam hopes to provide at the mouth of the river must be furnished somehow and somewhere. The original sketch for the Chicago harbor called for the construction of lake terminals in the vicinity of Sixteenth street. That site has since been considered the best one for the city's airport. Another possible site, which was recommended by E. M. Antrim in his terminal survey for THE TRIBUNE, is at Forty-first street, where the Chicago Junction railroad taps the Illinois Central. That location offers a number of advantages, including availability of a belt line railroad.

With the exception of the central terminal, the Putnam plan is acceptable, with minor changes, we believe. It has been drawn up with much understanding of Chicago's industrial and commercial requirements and of the requirements of traffic moving through Chicago. It is to be hoped that as soon as possible the Commercial club will make the plan available in detail to all who are in a position to criticize it constructively.

YES, MR. SMITH IS NOT A SENATOR.

When William Lorimer was expelled from the senate, neither his character nor any personal act was questioned. As the record stood, he was personally irreproachable. His election was proved to have been corrupt. By evidence and the confessions of members of the Illinois legislature it was known to have been bought and paid for. A plainer case for declaring his seat vacant could not have been presented, and yet it required two investigations and two votes in the senate to bring this about.

The record in the Smith case presents opposite conditions. There is nothing to show that the primaries and the election were not free, legal, and honest. It is Smith's public character that is involved, and, curiously, what tainted him has not been traced as a taint in his nomination or election. The money given him by the utility men, Insull, Studebaker, and Copley, made it easier for him to win his nomination, but it does not follow, and it has not been shown, that it was dishonestly or even questionably used.

It was the source of the money, and not the use of it, which disclosed Smith as unfit for an office of public trust. Further, it was not the intent of the gifts that they should influence Smith as a United States senator. It is almost grotesque to try to make it appear that the utilities were buying a seat in the United States senate. The effect they wanted to produce was on the Illinois commerce commission, which controls them.

It is an unenviable distinction for Illinois to have provided two men in fifteen years who were not allowed to enter or to remain in the United States senate, but the conduct of Illinois politics in that time contains sufficient reason for it. All that would be necessary for the state to make another such case in short order would be for Mr. Smith to return his credentials, for Gov. Small to resign and accept appointment to the senate from Mr. Sterling, or for the governor to retain his present office and appoint Mr. Sterling. Probably the safest thing for Illinois to do would be to authorize the senate committee on privileges and elections to select the senator in the first instance.

Lorimer was in his seat when his case was examined. His certificate of election had been honored. His credentials had been accepted. He was in possession of the seat and the rights which his state had voted him. The senate finally was stung into the proper course and, with due procedure and a two-thirds vote under its rules, took from him what the state had given him. There was a vacancy. The state was at liberty to send another man.

Just what is the situation now? Smith has not been duly deprived of something he had. The senate has not received his credentials, conceded that there had been an election in due form, given him his seat, and then determined that he was disqualified by his public acts. Smith has his certificate. Gov. Small, in a public statement, recognizes that it is as valid now as when it was issued. What has invalidated the election? Not the senate. It has not recognized it. It has canned the candidate. There was nothing of record wrong with the election, and the winner has his certificate in his pocket.

He can decline to take the office to which he was elected, and thus create a vacancy; but what if he doesn't? Who in Illinois can say that his certificate should be taken from him? A governor who was not his friend might recognize the senate decision in the form it was made and fill the place by appointment. If he was careful, the senate might let in the man appointed, and Smith, with a perfectly good certificate in his possession, might not be able to find a toe hold in the courts for his case.

The statements of the governor and of Smith indicate that both intend to stand pat. Then there is a vacancy which isn't a vacancy. There is a senator who isn't a senator. There is a state with one vote in the senate and one out in the sticks. Isn't it apparent that the senate, in winding itself up for the mighty wrath of the just and the pure in heart, has added not only a most questionable precedent to its procedure but unnecessary complications to a situation which was confused enough in principle without additional confusion of method?

THE PAULDING AND THE S-4.

Lieutenant Commander Thomas J. Doyle, appearing for the victims of the S-4 before the naval court of inquiry, testified that the destroyer Paulding had made it impossible for the submarine coming to the surface to avoid the collision which cost the lives of 40 sailors in the most hazardous branch of the service.

He said that the Paulding had changed its course near the white buoys marking the navy trial course off Provincetown; that it was entering the harbor at eighteen knots, "conned by a young and inexperienced officer, to whom no regular course had been assigned," and with no regularly assigned lookout. The submarine had no chance, he said.

The Paulding was one of the destroyers transferred to the coast guard for use in rum boat chasing. The coast guard has had one of the highest traditions in navy service. It has been proud of its work in the service of humanity. It has been a protective patrol, saving life, destroying derelicts, and taming some of the dangers of the sea, as well as guarding against smuggling. Then it was given prohibition enforcement duties.

Until special inquiry has been made it will not be known to what extent this demoralizing duty may have recruited an unreliable and unwholesome element. It is known that every other line of enforcement has attracted stupid, brutal, undependable men, many of whom sought the jobs for corrupt purposes. Consequently, enforcement on land has been attended by manslaughter, murder, housebreaking, bribery, lawlessness, and crimes singularly its own.

The recent civil service examination revealed that by the simple tests three-fourths of the agents were entirely unfit for their duty. To what extent have these conditions entered a formerly fine branch of the naval establishment? It also has had its killings, and it is notable that the destroyer which destroyed the S-4 was a rum chaser. Forty-one of the bravest men of the navy were the victims.

A naval court inquiry will not be sufficient. Lieutenant Commander Doyle's statements are of the gravest character. The inquiry now in progress must be supplemented by one which will take it out of the navy atmosphere; which will consider not only the Paulding and the S-4 but the conditions on every rum chaser.

The conscientious and courageous men of the coast guard who have upheld its traditions, and who are competent for their duties, will feel deeply hurt by this; but, if prohibition has put any stigma on any part of their service, the cure must be preceded by discovery.

Editorial of the Day

BRITAIN, UNCLE SAM'S OTHER ISLAND.

[G. K. Chesterton in the Illustrated Sunday Herald, London].

The time has come for our nation to issue a Declaration of Independence, announcing to the whole world that it is no longer one of the states of the American Union. Supposing that it had been possible not only for George Washington to defeat George III., with the assistance of French ships and soldiers, but also, with the same assistance, for him actually to invade and conquer the mother country.

Even to the warmest Whigs and American sympathizers that would have been an ignominious and intolerable position. But it would have been much more dignified and hopeful than the present position.

We have allowed our national life to be invaded and overthrown by things which are not the noblest ideas of our age; which are not noble ideas at all; which are not ideas at all. The new American power is in money, and mere money, and nothing else but money. It may well be questioned if it is fair to say that the American worships the dollar. The trouble is that the world worships the American dollar.

There are still just ideas at the back of the American democracy, only they are rather far back. There are any number of nice and normal people in America; being normal, they stay in America. But the American power exercised outside America is entirely and solely the power of money, and has nothing whatever to do with the original ideals of the nation. It was not the truthful George Washington, with his little hatchet, who conquered England; it was his degenerate descendants, with much larger and less decent axes to grind. We have been taught by fools to patronize the Americans as children instead of respecting them as foreigners. We have neglected our own nationality, even in talking about our empire. If George Washington had conquered us we should have fought and plotted and produced heroes and martyrs for a hundred years, till we won back our freedom like Ireland or Poland. Then our normal things would have felt as national things. Nobody would dare to destroy an English inn or an English road or the English hedges, still less to muddle and mutilate the noble English language.

1927 HEALTH RECORD SETS HIGH MARK.

WE start the new year with the hope of equaling the health record of 1927, but we recognize that the chance is not good. Perhaps desire is a better word to use, since hope carries with it more faith than the outlook justifies.

The year 1927 started off in a way that was without parallel. Never before had people been so free from coughs and colds, sore throats and bronchitis. By the end of April we had made a pneumonia record that was so low that we had to go back half a century to find its equal. May was characterized by the usual good health of that month. The summer was moderately hot, but in spite of that the general sickness rate kept below average. It seems that we have learned how to avoid summer disorders. For more than ten years the babies have been reasonably healthy during hot weather. Baby food has become safe, and mothers know mother-craft. A ten years' experience proves that.

In the early fall the winter diseases came back a little earlier than usual and there was a brief period in which it looked as though some of the good record would go on the rocks. But the October and November record more than redeemed the losses of September; and December carried us down the homestretch far ahead of the record of 1926.

All in all, 1927 set a mark for 1928 to shoot at. If we can keep as healthy this year as we were last, we shall have reasons for congratulations. Until 1927 we had not held our own consistently for half a dozen years. In 1926 we lost a little, as compared with 1925. It is true that the gains in typhoid and diarrhea control kept up. It is true that the mastery of hot weather disorders was progressive in that period. But when it came to the chest we did not hold our own in 1926, as compared with 1925. Consumption increased slightly. Tuberculosis of the bones and joints did not increase, but neither did it decrease. Pneumonia was very much higher in 1926. Bronchitis was slightly higher.

The figures for 1926 and 1925 are official from the United States census office for the full years. Those for 1927 are official from the same office for most of the year, but not for all, and they relate to the cities only.

If we are to equal the 1927 record each of us must live the laws of health and the health departments must "do their durndest."

FAT-CONTAINING FOODS.

A reader writes: 1. What, if any, foods contain no fats?

2. Does fruit contain fat?

REPLY:

1. Sugar contains no fat. Vegetables and fruits contain very little. Skim milk, skim milk cheese and buttermilk are almost fat free. You can get breads and crackers that are very poor in fats. Oatmeal and other cereals are poor in fats [I assume you eat your cereal without butter, cream, or whole milk]. Thoroughly trimmed lean meat is not rich in fat. The white of eggs is almost fat free. However, fat is freely used in cooking.

2. Very little. Do not count olives in the list, however. Nor cocoanut.

THE DATE CONTROLS.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—[Friend of the People.]—Does a woman who came to this country from Ireland in 1904 have to take out citizenship papers if she wants to be a citizen or does her marriage to an American citizen give her citizenship rights? M. E. E.

If the woman was married to an American citizen before Sept. 22, 1922, she became a citizen. If married on or after Sept. 22, 1922, she did not become a citizen by such marriage. FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT, District Director of Naturalization.

BROKER CLAIMS HIS COMMISSION.

Chicago, Jan. 18. — [To the Legal Friend of the People.] — Real estate agent takes a deposit on property for sale with no option. Should he keep all the money deposited by the buyer? Isn't the property owner entitled to hold some of that money? J. C.

Presumably, the broker is entitled to his commission. If the deposit exceeds the amount of the commission then the excess should go to the seller.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MERELY!

Chicago, Jan. 19. — [To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Can a railroad man be forced to pay a bill made by his wife before their marriage merely because he promised her to pay it? N. F. S.

Under the statute of frauds a promise to answer for the debt or default of another person must be in writing and signed by the person to be charged. In addition it is not clear that the creditors would have any right to enforce a promise which the man made merely to his wife.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DROPS DRUMMING CAREER.

Chicago, Jan. 10. — [To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I have been taking drumming lessons from a private teacher. After finishing my second course I quit taking lessons and failed to notify my teacher to that effect. From the time I dropped taking lessons and up to the time my teacher learned that I dropped out, several lessons were to be taken; can I be charged for these lessons? I am not under any written contract of any kind.

Can any legal step be taken towards collecting? E. M. S.

If the courses which you mention were understood to be separate and entirely independent then no presumption would arise that you intended to take a third course after the conclusion of the second. Your rights depend on what had been said bearing upon this presumption.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

BIGAMY AND POLYGAMY.

Chicago, Jan. 19. — [To the Legal Friend of the People.]—1. When married to more than two is the offense called bigamy?

2. What is polygamy then? J. H. B.

1. Yes. 2. This term is commonly applied to the relationship of one husband to several wives in a jurisdiction permitting such plural marriages. It is not commonly used as a description of a crime.

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

ENCOUNTER

When you came walking down the street,
It was not you I paused to greet,
But the old memory, faint and fair,
Of a man I once knew somewhere.

I think there dwelt within your clay
One time a spirit brave and gay;
I think I loved that spirit much,
And felt its kiss and knew its touch,

Before its slow, sure suicide.
I think I watched it while it died. . . .
Which makes you now more strange by far
Than any other strangers are.

WHEN GOOD FELLOWS GET TOGETHER

R. H. L.: The next time a fellow tells you the prohibition amendment is not enforced, tell him this one. They are even de-alcoholizing the songs. Yes, sir, a Kiwanian told me only last week. You remember the old song—

"It's always fair weather
When good fellows get together,
WITH A STEIN ON THE TABLE
And a good song ringing clear."

Well, this Kiwanian did not know the Volstead act had been extended into the song field. He had heard of synthetic gin but not of synthetic song. Before he became a Kiwanian this fellow had been a student at the University of Wisconsin. On Saturday nights he would go to the Farmers' Home over on University avenue, spend a nickel for a glass of beer, and eat what sauerkraut and hot dogs he could hold, the lunch being free. Or he would go downtown to Flom's Music hall. At Flom's he must spend 15 cents, for it costs a dime to get in. He always bought a glass of beer, for he felt more comfortable when the waiter passed by if he had part of a glass of beer on his table.

Because of these things this Kiwanian had not regarded the mention of the word "stein" in this song as a violation of the prohibition amendment. At last week's luncheon the song leader announced that the orchestra would play this grand old song and the club sing it. When it came to the third line of the chorus our hero thoughtlessly, but with gusto, sang "WITH A STEIN ON THE TABLE!" It was terrible. Abe Naset of the Kiwanis orchestra dropped his fifteen hundred dollar violin and Chauncey Beebe nearly swallowed his piccolo.

Our hero regretted that he had been born. As he sat there, stabbed by the indignant glances of the club members, in that awful silence that had immediately followed the sinful line, his thought harked back to the days of his childhood. He could hear the purling of the little brook that ran down the deep and narrow Wisconsin coulee where he was born, the crooning of his mother as she had rocked him to sleep in the cool shadows of the parlor bedroom on lazy summer afternoons, and he wished that he might not have lived beyond those happy days to disgrace himself and his father's name by a breach such as his careless tongue had just committed.

There was a meeting of the board of directors after luncheon, but I guess they are not going to do anything about it, although District Attorney Gleiss says "ignorance of the law excuses no one." For fear another thoughtless person may make the same mistake, I am telling you that this chorus, synthesized and with an alcoholic content of less than one-half of one per cent by volume, is—

"It's always fair weather
When good fellows get together,
WITH THE HAND CLASP OF FRIENDSHIP
And a good song ringing clear."

REPRESENTATIVE TILLMAN of Arkansas introduced a bill in congress Friday to establish a national board of book and magazine censorship. On the same day in an examination at the State university of Arkansas one student in answer to the question, "Who is Charles A. That tells me you are true!

BUT, SENOR, SHE HAS ELOPED

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 23, 1863.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Lincoln approved the verdict of the court in the Gen. Fitz-John Porter case. Contrary to former reports the court found him guilty of every charge Gen. Pope preferred against him, and he was cashiered and dismissed from the service. The announcement of his dismissal produced a profound sensation, not unmingled with astonishment. His friends, in their anxiety to find some way of letting him down easy, already begin to charge that the court was packed.

NEW YORK.—The Times prints Washington rumors that Burnside has again crossed the Rappahannock, and that a terrible battle is being fought Gen. Hooker, according to the report, is mortally wounded.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—There is no reason known here for believing any of the rumors telegraphed over the country from New York that severe fighting has been going on on the Rappahannock.

PHILADELPHIA. — The Washington Star says the understanding is that a portion of the Army of the Potomac [Hooker's division, at least] has crossed the Rappahannock. Gen. Burnside on Jan. 20 in a general order said, "The commanding general announces to the Army of the Potomac that they are about to meet the enemy once more."

CHICAGO.—J. D. Dennis and Miss Ella Keeler were married on Dec. 30 at the home of the bride's father by the Rev. W. F. Black.

CHICAGO.—A large and intelligent audience heard the lecture of Ralph Waldo Emerson on "Perpetual Forces" at Bryan hall.

CHICAGO. — We understand that John B. Gough has been engaged to lecture in Chicago for a week beginning Jan. 28.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 23, 1903.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—At the last moment and on the eve of an official declaration that negotiations were off, the government of the United States of Colombia met the views of this government and a treaty was signed which gives to this country perpetual control of the Panama canal strip across the isthmus.

MARACAIBO, Venezuela.—The bombardment of Fort San Carlos by the German cruisers Vineta, Panther, and Falke was still in progress at 8 o'clock this morning. The fort is badly damaged, twelve of its defenders are dead and fifteen wounded. But the flag of Venezuela still floats from the ramparts.

NEW YORK.—Robert Hall McCormick Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick of Chicago and New York, and Miss Eleanor Russell Morris, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis Morris, were married in St. Bartholomew's church by the Rev. Dr. David H. Greer.

CHICAGO.—Under the impetus of continued Armour buying and the impressive fact of the imposing Armour line of May, which may be 20,000,000 bushels, there was another strong wheat market yesterday. Opening prices were from 80⅞ cents to 80⅝ cents, with the close 81⅝ cents to 81¾ cents.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 23, 1918.

WASHINGTON. — Virtually admitting that his five day shutdown of industry failed in breaking the railroad blockade, particularly in the east, Fuel Administrator Garfield called on Director General of Railroads McAdoo to order an embargo on all freight shipments, extending over several days on the Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, and Reading railroads.

LONDON.—Lord Rhondda, food controller, has taken drastic measures to deal with the meat shortage. An official order, applying to all hotels, restaurants, boarding houses and public places, specifies two meatless days—Tuesdays and Fridays, in the London district, and Wednesdays and Fridays in other parts of the kingdom.

PARIS.—The war office reports that the German raid into the Champagne has broken down. On the right bank of the Meuse artillery fighting continued on the front of Bonvaux and the Chaume wood.

IRISH PATRIOTS BOTH.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Way back in 1917-1918, as a member of the Irish Volunteers, Waterford command, I felt honored at the privilege of serving on a guard of honor to Eamon de Valera on the occasion of his visit to our city during election time. De Valera and the late lamented Arthur Griffith were then the outstanding Irish leaders and were justly honored by the people. Mr. Cosgrave was a prominent member of Mr. de Valera's staff, with, however, no pretensions to leadership but with, I believe, a profound love and respect for De Valera. Since that time I do not believe anything Mr. de Valera has done or said would tend to lessen Mr. Cosgrave's respect for his erstwhile chief; and on the other hand I do not believe Mr. de Valera has any less regard today than he had way back in 1918 for his former aid. They happen to differ in their opinions as to how Ireland will best be served.

But why should Chicago politicians, and would-be politicians, try to make capital out of the visits of these two great Irishmen to our city? I am sure all right minded Chicago citizens are glad to welcome these great men, but I am sure these citizens are disgusted with petty politicians who have an ax to grind and who use such occasions as these to demonstrate how puny they really are. All hail to De Valera, the savior of his country, and all hail to Cosgrave, who also had the courage of his convictions. P. J. POWERS.

TWICE BITTEN.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Are we, the taxpayers, to be saddled with another bond issue to provide shower baths and de luxe accommodations for bum dogs and their offspring? I am a meter reader, and the loose dog, whether on the street or in a yard or basement, is the bane of our existence. I have been bitten twice, each time costing me several visits to a physician and other expense involved. The present dog pound suffices for its purpose to keep stray dogs for several days and then suffocate them. I for one will vote "No" on any bond issue for palaces for bum dogs. E. B.

HE HATES 'EM.

Winnetka, Ill., Jan. 17.—The deep, inside fact is that the possession and love of dogs is one of the most conclusive proofs of man's lingering barbarism. In all ages dogs have been kept for fighting purposes. English bulldogs were bred for the cruel sport of bull baiting. The German police dogs are but half tamed wolves, bred for war purposes. Faithfulness is not a virtue in a dog, but a meal ticket. Shepherd dogs are forced to herd sheep by being whipped if they quit the job. When your pet dog looks you so lovingly in the eye and wags its tail it is thinking of grub and not of love. By attributing love to it you are simply fooling your emotional nature.

Why keep a dog? It is a filthy animal, a haven for fleas, a carrier of disease. It has no respect for persons, nor time, nor place. In a word, dogs are vermin. They are a menace to health, an enemy to cleanliness, slinking apostates to social regularity, devotees to companionate promiscuity, and their dread of water is almost Volsteadian. All this humanitarianizing over dogs were better put upon a crusade for better babies. L. B. R.

WHY ALL THE TUMULT?

Chicago, Jan. 18.—I have lived here in Chicago only a few years, and have never seen fewer dogs anywhere. How many friendly old mutts have run up to you in the last year? I'll bet not one. A place is rather lonesome without them. I know that one sees blooded dogs on the end of a leash, but that is not "dog" in the sense that it was in kid days. J. B. N.

THE DANGER OF RABIES.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—All this hysterical talk about rabies makes one laugh. Granted that death from rabies is a dreadful thing, there is no reason to become excited about a thing that rarely exists. If Dr. Kegel will examine the mortality statistics he will find death from rabies of so little importance that it is not given a separate listing. He will find, certainly, not more than a dozen deaths in the United States from rabies in any one year over ten or twenty years.

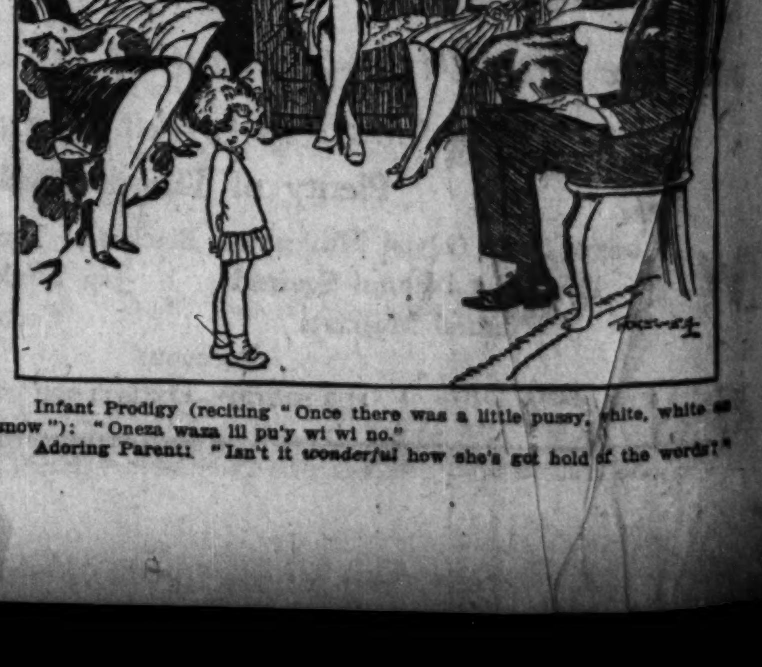

If the commissioner wishes to be of service to the city of Chicago I suggest that he turn his attention to our water supply and advise us some way in which we can counteract the effects on our stomachs of its filth or excessive content of chlorine. F. M. C.

NOT WHILE THE DOGS ARE IN DANGER.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—This space would be a very good debating ground for the prohibition question. F. P. S.

YOUTH MAY FACE MURDER CHARGE IN AUTO DEATH

Car Kills Motorman as He Adjusts Trolley.

Carden H. Henn, 21 years old, 2339 Commonwealth avenue, who was arrested early yesterday morning after his automobile struck and killed Peter Sarnecki, the father of four children, at Center and Larrabee streets, was held for the coroner's inquest today, and Capt. Thomas Condon of the Belden avenue police district announced that a murder charge would be placed against him if efforts were made to obtain his release.

Henn is the son of Bernhart G. Henn, wealthy official of a concern manufacturing check protectors. He was accompanied in the automobile by Miss Hilga Ellison, who said she was housekeeper for the Henn family. She was also held for the inquest.

Claim Couple Was Drinking.

Sarnecki, who was 50 years old and lived at 1650 North Rockwell street, was a surface lines motorman. He was changing a trolley when the automobile struck him and crushed him against the side of his car. According to the police, Henn and Miss Ellison admitted they had been drinking. Witnesses said they were driving 40 miles an hour at the time.

Mrs. Ursula Marty, 73 years old, 2756 Montrose avenue, died yesterday of injuries suffered when she was struck on Nov. 29 by an automobile driven by Howard Stuart, 5830 South Park avenue. Her death raised the motor toll in Cook county since Jan. 1 to 55.

Eleven Hurt in Crash.

Three children and eight adults were slightly injured when two automobiles in which they were riding collided at Harlem and North avenues, Oak Park, last night. Lavergne Reis, 419 North Long avenue, Oak Park, was one of the drivers and Albert Goehler of Niles the other.

Arthur Reynolds Jr., 23 years old, son of Arthur Reynolds Sr., president of the Continental and Commercial National bank, was arrested in Evanston yesterday on charges of speeding and failing to observe a stop sign. Reynolds, who lives at 201 East Delaware place, was released when he posted bonds of $35.

Passenger Plane Crashes and Burns; Traveler Killed

BARCELONA, Spain, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A French Latecoere passenger airplane operating between Casablanca, Morocco, and Toulouse, France, crashed and burned near the town of Tarragona today. The only passenger aboard was killed. The pilot was seriously injured.

ARREST TWO AS RESPONSIBLE FOR FACTORY FIRES

Investigation of a number of fires of an incendiary nature at the Beaver Products company, manufacturers of roofing material at 49th street and Oakley avenue, last night resulted in the taking into custody by the New City police of William Boland, 50, of 5943 South Karlov avenue, engineer of the company recently discharged, and Theodore Evans, 39, of 4748 Vincennes avenue, colored coal passer for the concern.

Capt. William Stapleton and Sergt. James Cooney said the two men were responsible for more than a dozen recent fires, which caused an aggregate damage of $50,000 to the roofing company.

Evans, according to Capt. Stapleton, confessed he lighted the fires with highly inflamable oil soaked waste at the instance of Boland. On Christmas eve there was a serious fire which caused $30,000 damages and for a time threatened to destroy the plant. Last Tuesday night there were five small fires in different parts of the works, and Saturday night there was another. Capt. Stapleton said he will charge the two men with arson.

WOMAN KILLED IN FIRE.

Mrs. Mabel Murphy, 38, colored, was fatally burned and a dozen other Negroes living in a frame building at 877 Milton street were endangered when the structure was destroyed by fire yesterday.

Girl Shoots Father With Gun She Took from His Pocket

Stanley Juscsyk, 30 years old, a carpenter, residing at 12207 West 123d street, was in a critical condition, according to physicians, at Roseland hospital last night from a bullet wound through the stomach inflicted accidentally by his 7 year old daughter, Anna. Juscsyk said that the little girl, without his knowledge, slipped the gun from his hip pocket while he stood talking at his home to several friends.

SINGAPORE ASKS WHO'LL PAY BILL FOR NAVAL BASE

British Colony Fears a Heavy Burden.

BY FRANK M. STARLING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlements, Jan. 22.—Much ado has been made over the question of "Who is to pay for the Singapore naval base?" This question came up in the last meeting of the legislative council and was aired considerably by local members of the council.

It is recognized that Singapore is rapidly being transformed into the Gibraltar of the east, but Singapore business and professional men and all local taxpayers are asking who is going to pay for this transformation. It was estimated at the outset that $55,000,000 would be required to carry out the Singapore plans. Up to date much less than half this amount has been accounted for, but the work on the naval base and the transformation of the harbor is proceeding at a rapid rate. Singapore citizens are now asking will they be expected to bear the costs not met by some other part of the empire.

Singapore Gives Bond.

Singapore has given the land required for the naval base as a free gift to the British government. The sultans of the federated Malay states have contributed $10,000,000 to the scheme.

In addition to this, it has been alleged that this colony is being made to pay the expenses of the garrison to defend the base and for the largely increased land, sea and air forces required by the base. The increases of the cost of defense as provided for in the 1928 budget amounts to $612,500 more than the 1927 budget. It is pointed out by local citizens that the inhabitants of the rock of Gibraltar do not pay for the fortifications and heavy artillery which guard the key to the Mediterranean. The Maltese do not pay for the soldiers and sailors who are stationed upon their islands. Where then, the British government is asked, is the justice in making Singapore pay for the cost of defending the naval base.

Will Complete Base in 1937.

It is announced that the Singapore naval base will be completed in 1937. The fourth of the seven sections of the floating dock which will be towed by tugs out to Singapore has been launched at Wallsend, England. It is expected that the remaining three sections will be launched soon.

In addition to the floating docks there will be two huge graving docks, a large naval wireless station, and a big aerodrome, all of which are still to be built. There is storage for enormous quantity of bunker fuel.

It is pointed out that this tremendous investment all concentrated in one place, at one site, will be a wonderful target for enemy bombing airplanes, and that enemy aircraft could soon destroy this costly paraphernalia. It will therefore behoove the British taxpayers to provide a few more million pounds in addition to the initial cost of the base to furnish protective measures against aircraft.

KEGEL URGES EARLY TREATMENT FOR POOR EYESIGHT IN CHILDREN

Importance of treating defective vision in school children was stressed yesterday by Commissioner of Health Arnold H. Kegel in his weekly health bulletin. Although 31,000 children in the schools had defective eyesight last year, only 15,000 have had the trouble properly attended to, the commissioner declared.

"As a rule children do not complain of defective vision as such. In fact, other signs exhibited by the school child usually point to the real trouble," the bulletin reads. "These signs are: Reddened and watery eyes and eyelids; persistent headaches; getting tired easily; a strained posture; lagging behind in school work; vomiting at times, and excessive nervousness.

"Instead of scolding or punishing a child for his failure to study and get along in his school work, let us be sure that his vision is normal; if not there are ways to correct it."

GEN. M'COY IN NICARAGUA TO BOSS ELECTIONS

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Brig. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, appointed by President Coolidge to supervise the 1928 Nicaraguan presidential elections, arrived at Managua today with several assistants. It is believed in some quarters that his presence will assist materially the passage of the electoral law, which has been approved by the American state department and now is deadlocked in the Nicaraguan congress. The house of deputies insists on certain changes, while the senate is standing pat on the original draft, which it approved last week. Senate leaders believe that sufficient pressure will be brought to bear on the house to insure passage by that body soon.

NEW HUSTLE AND BUSTLE OF ITALY SURPRISES GETZ

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Jan. 22.—George Getz, Chicago sportsman and business man, with his party of hunters, who have returned from an exciting safari in the Lake Victoria region of Tanganyika, arrived in Rome today. They will stay several days, later visiting Florence, en route to Paris before sailing for the United States on the Berengaria, Feb. 1.

"There is an astonishing change in this country since I last saw it," declared Mr. Getz, who added he was impressed with the businesslike activity and energy everywhere. "The railroads seem to be operating efficiently and orderly, and it is interesting to see how the Italians now are electrifying their roads by using water power.

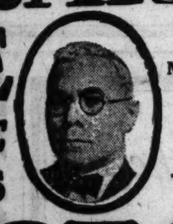

"There is order and cleanliness, too. I was siting in the train from Naples this morning, with my feet on the opposite seat. The conductor came along and made me take them down."

BANKERS OPPOSE BLUE SKY LAWS AS BAR TO FRAUD

Seek New Method Based on Investigations.

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 22.—[Special.]—The board of governors of the Investment Bankers' association, at its concluding session here, went on record against the so-called blue sky laws for the prevention of frauds, and advocated laws "with broad powers of investigation" as a means of protecting investors.

The resolution recited that the board had "not yet been able to convince itself that there is a legislative panacea that will assure the sound management essential to the success of any investment trust," and that "any legislation of the blue sky type would prove of questionable efficacy, and that fraud acts with broad powers of investigation are probably the best means of accomplishing this protection, if properly administered."

The board of governors approved a letter to Senator James E. Watson, chairman of the senate committee on interstate commerce, signed by President Hayes, stating that the general investigation of public utilities in the United States, as proposed by Senator Walsh of Montana, "should be solely on the basis of a fair fact finding of the conditions as a whole in the industry, and not confined to a limited section of the public utility industry or a few specific cases."

Approximately 150 investment trusts chartered in various states in the United States are investing funds received from the sale of their own capital stocks in securities in various corporations in this and foreign countries, according to a paper presented before the board by Charles Dickey of Philadelphia.

"The investment trust movement in the United States has been of comparatively recent growth, although investment trusts have been known abroad for many years," Mr. Dickey said. "In some states, New York included, consideration is now being given to the question of some form of regulation for investment trusts."

CRIMINAL SUIT ADVISED IN CASE OF MRS. KNAPP

Reports to Gov. Smith in N. Y. Census Inquiry.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 22.—[Special.]—A recommendation that prosecution upon criminal charges be instituted against Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state, as a result of alleged irregular practices in the conduct of the 1925 state census, is made by Randall J. Lebouef Jr., Gov. Smith's commissioner under the Sherman-Moreland act.

Forgery, grand larceny, false audits and certifications, abstractions of public records, and various misdemeanors "tending to show felonies," are charged by Commissioner Lebouef against Mrs. Knapp, who is dean of the college of home economics at Syracuse university. The report is one of the most startling documents to find a place in the official files at the state capitol.

Laidlaw and Others Accused.

The report also recommends the prosecution of Dr. Walter Laidlaw, secretary of the city census committee, who was instrumental in bringing the charges against Mrs. Knapp, which led up to the inquiry conducted by Commissioner Lebouef, and the prosecution upon criminal charges of half a dozen state employés declared to have been involved in various ways with the offenses charged against Mrs. Knapp.

The complaint against Dr. Laidlaw is violation in 1925 and 1927 of the so-called anti-lobbying law, which requires a paid lobbyist at the capitol to register with the secretary of state.

The only state official, besides Mrs. Knapp, whose prosecution upon criminal charges is urged by Commissioner Lebouef, is Mark Stern, who was her chief deputy in the state department and has been retained in that capacity by the incumbent, Secretary of State Robert Moses.

Relatives on Payroll.

Two state employés come in for similar treatment in the report. They are Miss Anna C. Little, for many years auditor in the department of state, and Miss Julia M. Ryan, chief clerk of the civil service commission.

Mr. Stern was custodian of the "private" pay roll maintained by Mrs. Knapp, on which was listed, according to the report, a bloc of close relatives of Mrs. Knapp who received in the aggregate a little more than $25,000 out of the census fund without performing any services in return.

If you were Cold Last Night—read this!

ONE simple change can "vacuumize" your one pipe steam heating system—and the entire job can be done in an hour today by your local heating and plumbing shop. The result will be continuous heating comfort no matter what the thermometer registers outside. Every radiator will heat quickly and stay hot as long as you want it—and you will cut your coal or oil bills one-third.

How to "VACUUMIZE" your one pipe steam system

SIMPLY replace ordinary air-venting valves on your radiators with Hoffman No. 2 Vacuum Valves and your system is "vacuumized". Here is the reason—every home owner should know it.

When a boiler produces steam, this steam has to lift an air load of 14.7 lbs. on every square inch of surface to force air out of radiators. If air cannot escape, steam cannot circulate even with high steam pressure. That is why an air-venting valve was originally placed on each radiator—to let air out.

When you get up steam two or three times every day, much is wasted in lifting this air load. For (unfortunately) most air-venting valves let air back in just as they let it out. This happens as soon as steam pressure drops.

The Hoffman No. 2 Vacuum Valve lets air out quick—then "double locks" it out through its patented vacuum diaphragm. This removes the "air load" from your heating system. A partial vacuum is created. ...Now, when you get up steam, it rushes unrestricted to radiators. Pounding and hissing are eliminated. Steam does not waste its heat energy fighting air.

That's why Hoffman Vacuum Valves make radiators hot in 15 minutes (not an hour). That's why radiators stay piping hot 3 hours (not 30 minutes) after drafts are shut off. For, air being locked out, steam continues for a long time to flow into radiators and give off heat. Hence greater comfort and—you save ⅓ of the coal or oil you formerly used.

15 minutes (not an hour) —to get up steam
Hot radiators 3 hours (not 30 minutes) after banking
...for ⅓ less fuel

An investment in Hoffman Valves means not only comfort—but profit

THE average heating system requires 1½ tons of coal (or 190 gallons of oil) a season for each radiator. By saving ⅓ of this fuel you earn 50% to 65% on your investment in Hoffman Valves the first year. The second year you get your original investment back—plus a profit. Every year, afterwards, you make yourself a gift of approximately $5 a radiator for each one in your house—not to mention the comfort. From the investment standpoint, alone, you cannot afford to be without Hoffman No. 2 Vacuum Valves.

Little Chats About Your Health

Theodore Roosevelt on Health

Theodore Roosevelt said: "There is no kind of achievement equal to perfect health."

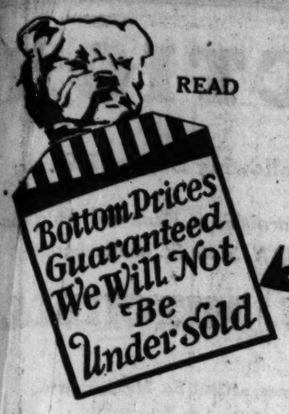

He knew whereof he spoke, for perhaps his greatest achievement was that of achieving health. As a boy he was weak and ailing, and the robust health which characterized his later years was the result of a plan carefully laid out and courageously followed.

Every one should have a health plan and nearly every one can enjoy good health by following certain rules and natural laws known to every physician.

Always get your doctor's advice regarding health matters and consult him promptly whenever illness occurs.

Whenever he gives you a prescription you are assured of getting precisely what he orders when you have it filled by us.

HOOVER 'ELECTED PRESIDENT' BY YALE STUDENTS

Receives 69 Per Cent of All Votes Cast.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 22.—[Special.]—Herbert C. Hoover was "elected President of the United States" in the vote taken by students of Yale university under the auspices of the "On National Affairs" section of the Yale Daily News. The undergraduates cast 2,177 ballots, representing 69 per cent of the student body.

Of this number, Hoover received 1,258, or 339 more than the total received by all the other candidates combined. His plurality over Gov. Al Smith of New York, who received the next largest number, 428, amounted to 830.

The vote for the other candidates was: Dawes, 131; Lowden, 83; Baker, 35; Young, 34; Reed, 30; Curtis, 6.

The political preference of the undergraduates was shown in the 1,560 votes cast for Republican candidates to 617 for the Democratic.

Hoover either carried or tied the vote in 43 of the 48 states of the Union. He was beaten by Smith only among the students from Delaware, where two votes were cast, and among the men from Kentucky, by a vote of 7 to 5. Gov. Ritchie carried Maryland with 12 votes, Hoover running a close second with 11. Hoover carried Smith's state of New York, 267 to 119.

Every state in the Union except Nevada was represented.

The results of the faculty vote were:

Republicans—Hoover, 180; Dawes, 8; Lowden, 7; Longworth, 5; Norris, 5; Borah, 3; Willis, 1. Democrats—Smith, 79; Owen D. Young, 78; Baker, 24; Glass, 11; Reed, 11; Ritchie, 8; Walsh, 5.

"EIFFEL TOWER DOOMED"; PARIS MAY WRECK IT

PARIS, Jan. 22.—[U. P.]—A commission of experts of the city of Paris will crawl around the whole Eiffel tower in May to determine whether it should be demolished. Engineers say the tower is doomed and that the highest structure in the world must be torn down within ten years or it will fall down. Such a catastrophe would threaten the lives of thousands.

The ministry of the interior said today that an examination last May resulted in the replacing of many rivets. The tower was pronounced safe, however. Serious corrosion of the metalwork has increased with time.

Built in 1889 for the world's fair, the tower already has passed its span of life by 19 years. Its builder, Alexandre Gustave Eiffel, constructed it to stand 20 years.

NEW JUGO-SLAV PROVINCES SEEK TO CURB SERBS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AGRAM, Croatia, Jan. 22.—At the general conference of the Democratic and Peasant parties Stephan Raditch and Svetosar Pribicevic, former premier, said today they will work together to overthrow the present Jugo-Slavian government for a new coalition government in which the new provinces of Jugo-Slavia would have equality with the parts comprising old Serbia. It is complained that old Serbia is governing the new provinces of Jugo-Slavia, despite the fact that they make up more than half the country. It is said the Serbs are indifferent to the interests of the new provinces. Decentralization is demanded.

YARROW ASSERTS VICE RINGS REAP $100,000,000 A YEAR

Syndicated vice is reaping a harvest of one hundred million dollars in Chicago annually, of which approximately one-half goes into the pockets of crooked officials who furnish protection and distribute the bounty to the smaller fry, the Rev. Philip Yarrow charged yesterday in an address to the "Hammers of God" at the Masonic Temple building.

This estimate of Chicago's wickedness is considerably above one made not long ago by Dr. Yarrow, in which he placed the figure at seventy-five millions.

For an hour and a half, exuding satisfaction at being able to call a spade a spade before an audience in which he asserted he recognized representatives of both the accused officials and the denounced vice kings, Dr. Yarrow officiated at a thorough laundering of the city's dirty linen.

Numerous officials of the city and of the county are hand in glove with the vice rings and are constantly and increasingly endangering the liberty and happiness of Chicago homes and individuals, he declared.

WOMAN IS VICTIM OF GAS.

Miss Blanch Andrews, 50, a waitress, was found dead of gas asphyxiation yesterday in her room at 667 North Dearborn street. Her death was believed to have been accidental, due to a defective burner.

Turks Probe Conversion of Girls in American School

BROUSSA, Turkey, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The Turkish government is investigating the alleged conversion to Christianity of four Moslem girls who are students at the American school here. A Turkish law prohibits religious propaganda in schools. A representative of the foreign mission board in Constantinople said: "American schools in Turkey have been conforming to the law, so we welcome the investigation."

"Don't be too sure because your baby looks strong and healthy"

—physicians warn mothers of a grave danger

All over the country baby specialists are warning mothers, "No matter how plump and healthy your baby looks, he may be threatened by one grave danger."

It is the danger that his bones and teeth will not form properly; will be soft and porous instead of solid and strong. Even breast-feeding does not keep him safe.

Science has found two available sources of protection. Sunshine and good cod-liver oil. Enough direct sunshine on his bare body would keep him safe. But clothing, clouds, fog and smoke make this almost impossible. Even ordinary window glass filters out the protecting rays.

So physicians have turned to cod-liver oil as the only practical means of assuring correct formation of your baby's bones and teeth.

In prescribing cod-liver oil, thousands of baby specialists insist upon Squibb's because it is so unusually rich in the necessary Vitamins A and D.

Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil, because it is all oil, gives the maximum protection per spoonful. And unlike other oils, Squibb's does not deteriorate with age; it does not lose its effectiveness.

Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil is the daily protection your baby needs. Vitamin-Tested and Vitamin-Protected. At all reliable drug stores. For your protection insist on Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil.

GOETHALS RITES TO TAKE PLACE AT WEST POINT

Body Lies at Rest in New York Church.

New York, Jan. 22.—[Special.]—Under the folds of the American flag the body of Maj. Gen. George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama canal and first civil governor of the Panama Canal Zone, rested today in the chancery of the Protestant Episcopal church of St. Mary the Virgin. He died at noon Saturday and the body was removed to the chapel Saturday evening.

Callers at the church were shown to the chapel, where they looked through the grating at the flag draped coffin. The body was not on view and will not lie in state.

Tomorrow the body will be entrained for West Point, where it will rest in the old cadet chapel until after the funeral services at 3:15 p. m. Tuesday. The burial service will be pronounced by the Rev. Percy Silver, rector of the Church of the Incarnation. The Rev. Mr. Silver formerly was a chaplain at West Point and is a personal friend of the Goethals family. Interment will be made in the army cemetery at West Point.

The funeral escort will consist of B company, U. S. corps of cadets, the company which the general commanded while a cadet at West Point, and the U. S. M. A. detachment of engineers which he commanded as a captain from 1898 to 1900.

Messages of condolence from friends and former associates as well as officials in many quarters were received today at the Goethals home.

CANADA TO ANNEX TWO AND A HALF ACRES FROM U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 23.—Canada is to annex a piece of the United States. There is no dispute about the territory the dominion is taking over—indeed, Uncle Sam is giving the land to his neighbor of the north as the best way out of a boundary snarl. The piece of the United States to be annexed is two and one-half acres in extent. It is situated in an angle of Lake of the Woods, where the two nations' surveying parties bungled their job about a century ago. Ottawa and Washington have agreed. So the Manitoba legislature will pass a bill next week annexing this patch of territory, now part of Minnesota.

EXPLOSIVES ENLISTED TO HELP FIREMEN OF CHICAGO FIGHT FLAME

Big fires in Chicago hereafter are going to furnish more excitement for the spectators. To the display of flames will be added the noise of bursting bombs, tearing away walls and in some cases destroying whole buildings.

Fire Commissioner A. W. Goodrich announced yesterday the formation of a "miners and sappers" squad in each battalion, whose duty it will be to ventilate smoldering fires and check the spread of dangerous flames by the use of explosives. Such squads have been attached to the New York City fire department for years, he said.

"In several fires recently firemen have been balked from entering a burning building by smoke and gases," Mr. Goodrich explained. "When we needed explosives badly to open ventilation holes, we did not have them."

Canners' Association Opens 21st Meeting Here Today

The twenty-first annual convention of the National Canners' association and two allied organizations, the Canning Machinery and Supplies' association and the National Food Brokers' association, will begin in Chicago today and will continue through the week. One of the principal problems to be discussed is the betterment of distribution of canned products. Harry L. Cannon of Bridgeville, Del., president of the association, and Roy L. Davidson, president of the National Wholesale Grocers' association, will speak at a joint meeting of their respective organizations in the Eighth street theater tonight.

BEGIN CAMPAIGN FOR DOWNTOWN WAR MEMORIAL

Legionnaires Ask Support of All Ex-Service Men.

That busy Chicago may never forget the sacrifices and valor of its soldiers in the world war, Harold A. Taylor post of the American Legion has started a campaign for the erection of a war memorial in or near the downtown district. The proposal is to place a monument either in the triangular plaza at Wacker drive and Wabash avenue, or in Lincoln park.

The Taylor post has been assured of the support of other Cook county legion organizations in the campaign, according to its commander, James J. Bartlett. A number of civic leaders also have indorsed the project. It is proposed to seek the aid of the Chicago Plan commission in obtaining a site. A committee headed by Joseph Delacour, past commander of the post, has been appointed for this purpose.

Seek Aid from All Posts.

"At present there is no monument in downtown Chicago to the men of the last war, and we hope that all ex-service men will favor this plan for a memorial," Bartlett explained. "It isn't a Taylor post project alone; we want it to be a county-wide affair. A design by Leonard H. Grosse, which we believe strikes a new note in war memorials, has been approved, and we have pledged ourselves to see the work started."

The proposed design, it was disclosed, calls for a large base of boulders, surmounted by a heroic sized bronze figure of a doughboy.

Among those who are supporting the project is James Simpson, chairman of the plan commission. Charles H. Wacker also examined the proposed design and declared he was heartily in favor of its erection if it was favorable to the plan commission.

Others Indorse Project.

Others who approved the memorial include Col. A. A. Sprague, Howard Savage, former national commander of the legion; Maj. Frederic McLaughlin; Col. Thomas R. Gowenlock; Eugene Taylor, manager of the plan commission; Brig. Gen. Abel Davis; Maj. Reed Landis; James C. Russell, and Frank B. Flannery, well known Legionnaires; H. H. Weimer, president of the 33d division, A. E. F. association, and Judge Joseph Burke.

Her Week's Wage Is Stolen as She Tries to Quiet Baby

Since her husband left her a year ago Mrs. Mary Lindholm has been supporting herself and her infant son by acting as janitress at St. Patrick's school, Adams and Des Plaines streets. She took the baby with her yesterday when she went to collect her $20 wages. On the way home she changed cars at Roosevelt road and Halsted street. There the youngster began to cry, so Mrs. Lindholm opened her purse to get him a pacifier. A stout, healthy looking youth saw the $20 bill. He snatched the purse and fled.

Ice Floes Block River at Monroe, Mich.; Flood Street

DOMINICAN SISTERS PRAISE FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

"FOR COLDS AND BODY BUILDING IT DOES A WORLD OF GOOD," THEY WRITE

The Dominican Sisters of St. Dominic Monastery, La Crosse, Wisconsin, have found that for treating and preventing colds and building up the aged and sickly, Father John's Medicine is so effective that they have used it daily for many years.

Following is a part of a letter from the Mother Prioress:—

"We have found out that there is nothing better than Father John's Medicine for colds, or building up the body. It always helps our weak or delicate sisters, and those who have colds soon recover and grow stronger. We cannot praise Father John's Medicine too highly. We cheerfully recommend it for colds and as a body builder and hope that all who use it may obtain the same wonderful results as we do; it does a world of good."

These good sisters know that they can take Father John's Medicine with confidence as it is absolutely free from alcohol and dangerous drugs. For 70 years it has won similar tributes of praise as the safe family medicine for colds and body building.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: The Sinking Fund

Elmer Pictures Wilbur Evans as Star of Times

Enjoys His Concert With Mme. Louise Homer.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Wilbur Evans, bass baritone, radio audition contest winner on the men's side, appeared in concert with Mme. Louise Homer, contralto, and Louise Homer Stires, soprano, at New York, through W-G-N, 8:15 to 9:15, last evening, and emerged with flying colors.

He created the same surprise impression that Miss Agnes Davis did last Sunday. We can remember these two names with the certainty that they will be two of the famous singers of tomorrow in the musical world.

Mr. Evans epitomizes all the attributes that imagination in the abstract assumes for a baritone. It is pure baritone, without anything savoring of individualism. It is a voice richly resonant; capable of heavy dramatic rôles, or songs requiring a pure legato style; in enunciation, ideal; an expressive singer throughout, and pleasing.

I imagine the expressions of approval over Mrs. Stires' singing last evening was greater than that for any other of her radio appearances. Purity of tone and tenderness of expression was evidenced at all times. Her singing of the familiar hymn, "Just as I Am Without One Plea," was done with telling effect.

Mme. Homer added the touch of the historical to the concert. In hearing her one thinks of the yesterdays and all that she has meant musically during the last decades.

The Mozart program on the W-G-N, 9:15 to 10 "Music Hour," was a joyous affair. Competition and repetition does not dull the ear to this pure and youthful music. The first and last movements of the "Jupiter" symphony were played by the orchestra and so effectively that it seemed to suggest complete symphonies by the orchestra.

I considered the organ recital from WHT, 6 to 7, one of the choicest among the many choice afternoon and early evening musical programs. This was so big it filled our apartment, and I fear extended to our neighbors.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscript returned.

A Practical Joke.

On the morning of the day before Christmas the fellows at the office, by some hook or crook method, acquired a box of expensive cigars, each one being wrapped in tinfoil. I do not smoke, but the fellows insisted that I take one and give it to my dad. I took a cigar with the intention of giving it to my best girl's dad that evening with the hopes of making a good impression.

On my way home that afternoon I guarded that cigar so that it would not be crushed on the crowded street car. Consequently on my arrival at my girl's home I presented her with a Christmas gift, but imagine my embarrassment when her dad unwrapped the tinfoil from the cigar to find it held nothing but corrugated paper wound closely together in the shape of a cigar, and to make things worse I could not convince him I was innocent.

This Clever Gown Was Created by Agnes

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Even the overskirt will turn—into a jabot rever. This new and adroit development of the skirt is a result of the midseason openings and is most notably exploited in a gown by Agnes which uses a navy crêpe frock printed in a small design in red and white. The gown we show today was inspired by this model and departs from the original only in the matter of fabric and sleeves. Instead of retaining the sleeves of the Paris model with their small puffs above the wrists this frock sanctions the familiar long narrow model.

For the printed navy crêpe of Agnes' creation the American translation substitutes a green chintz taffeta with a small floral design in yellow. But the surplice line, together with that new and arresting movement of the overskirt, is left just as it was.

Also we encounter here the same individual bands of trimming. These bands consist of organdy mounted on monotone crêpe. In this case the former is green to match the gown and it is placed over bands of plain yellow crêpe to match the flowers. The same yellow crêpe fills in the deep V of the neck line.

In this matter of diversifying the skirt the French designer shows himself through the midseason creations even more artful than he was during the autumn. There are numerous overskirt effects in these collections and many evening gowns introduce side panels which are almost as ample as an overskirt.

Skins Vary with the Hair Coloring, Says Antoinette

by Antoinette Donnelly

Blonde, brunette, and red are the three general divisions applied to complexions as well as to hair. The "blonde" skin is the quality with ever so slight a tinting or none-at all. The brunette has the varying tan to olive shades, and the red has a deep undercurrent of color beneath the epidermis.

In between these three outstanding classifications there are many tones of skin. But for the purpose of outlining the disorders to which the separate types are prone the three classifications will serve.

Blondes have, generally speaking, the finest quality of skin. But, being fine, it is susceptible to drying and scaling and earlier wrinkling than the brunette's. The glandular system of the blonde, it is explained, is less active, her lymphatic and nervous system more irritable. So the blonde has to look after her nervous system and her circulation in order to nurse the beauty of her skin to a rip old age.

Brunettes are lucky in one respect. Their skins secrete more oil. Oil in normal quantity is what keeps the skin in good condition, keeps it young and free from wrinkles. It has been observed time and again in tropical countries, where brunettes abound, that they may become old and fat, but their complexions are beautifully free from wrinkles. However, the glandular system of the brunette being more active than the other types', she is more susceptible to greasy skin. She is more often the victim of acne, which begins with faulty work of the pores in not ridding themselves of the excess fatty matter that accumulates in them. Also, she is more susceptible to oily dandruff, a harder condition to eliminate than the dry, scaling dandruff.

The brunette's problem in skin preservation is more a matter of sane diet, avoiding the fatty, rich foodstuffs and getting exercise to keep the blood in good working condition.

The redheads have skin of a less vulnerable quality than blondes, but resemble them in certain characteristics. Their susceptibility is to blotches and wrinkles, should their skins be deprived of the needed natural oils.

The in-between types, according to the predominance of blonde, brunette, or red, follow the predisposition of the type they most nearly resemble.

However, the possibility of acquiring skin blemishes, no matter what the type, is eliminated with perfect bodily hygiene backed up by a strong, healthy organization.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

UNEASY: THE ODORS THAT eminate from the body are caused by acids and other chemical materials which exist in the natural secretions of the body; perspiration, breath, etc. The less water you drink, the more these odors pervade the atmosphere surrounding the person. Keep free from constipation and drink from six to eight glasses of water every day.

Don't Cast Too Rosy a Glamour Over Their Babyhood

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Tell me again, mother—how did I use to play whale?"

"Well, when you were just a little chap taking your bath, you'd say, 'Now I'm a baby whale, mudder,' and you'd fill your mouth with water and lie on your back and spout! The water would go up in the air, really just like a whale. And I remember one day, one sad day, the whale's spout was crooked, and it got the mother whale soaking wet."

Giggles. Then, "what did I use to call an elephant, mother, when I was a baby?"

"You used to call it 'Ump.'"

More giggles.

"And what did I call an automobile?"

"Well, you won't believe it when I tell you, but you'd just point and say, 'Eemie.'"

"But why did I, mother?"

"The word as so hard for you that was the best you could do. And you used to call garbage, gobch."

"Gobch — gobch — that was funny. Tell me some more, mother. I love to hear about when I was a baby. It's so inter-string. . . . I wish I was little again. . . . It seems much more fun to be little."

So that's what I was doing—investing babyhood with such a glamour that it seemed brighter than little boyhood—making the past more interesting than either the present or the future. I made a resolution on the spot not to do so any more.

The Glamour of Babyhood.

Are you making that mistake, too? Are you chaining your children to their babyhood? Sometimes quite unconsciously we lead their thoughts backward because, I supose, every mother's heart hovers over her children's baby days.

But it is not a wholesome thing for them. Their thoughts should be guarded so that their present is the most live and fascinating thing in the world to them.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Make New Friends.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a fellow but I think he doesn't care for me at all. I cannot forget him. There are many boys who ask me to go out with them but I refuse them. Is it right for me to refuse them? How can I forget him? BLUE EYES."

No, Blue Eyes, do not refuse the invitations of others. Accepting is the only way to accomplish what you wish, that is, to forget about the young man who isn't interested.

Too Much Kindness Made These Children Selfish and Mean

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Nineteen years ago a mother was deserted by her husband. She was left with three children, the youngest being one and a half years old. There were no funds. The mother turned to business. The first years were lean, hard ones. Then the business developed. The children were sent to a good school. The mother made sacrifices, working night and day that they might enjoy a lovely home, clothes, pleasures and advantages such as their companions knew.

About three years ago her store was robbed. The woman lost everything. Ill luck dogged her footsteps in another venture. When she ceased to produce a beautiful home, clothes, and the ease to which the youngsters were accustomed, their utter selfishness began to reveal itself. The oldest girl got a position, but her earnings she kept wholly to herself. The next was no more helpful.

The mother looks back regretfully at the opportunities to marry she turned down for her children's sake. And life in general has a bitter sting in it for her, the greatest pain due to the ingratitude of her children.

Whether or not the ungrateful youngsters will have to be left now to learn the lessons life is bound to teach them, is it entirely their fault that their characters are what they are?

One of the greatest tragedies of life, to me, is the widow or deserted wife and mother who tries to make up for the love-lack in her life by surfeiting children with it to the extent of ruining their lives. There is a selfishness about self-sacrifice that mothers often will not realize until it is too late.

But there is this to be said about children: They cannot be trained from early childhood to have every desire gratified, every bit of responsibility lifted from their shoulders, no concessions asked of them, and be expected to display any of the fine qualities needed in an emergency such as this mother has met.

SYNOPSIS.

John Arden, handsome young Londoner, meets through an accident lovely Esmée ..., to whom he is able to render a slight but chivalrous service. He learns that the girl and her companion, Mrs. Sinclair, lately arrived in London from the Argentine, were the last two persons to see Lord Farndale alive. The old earl's sudden and mysterious death is announced to the world by the morning papers and Arden grows suspicious of Mrs. Sinclair when he learns that she is trying to keep their visit to the old earl secret and is coercing Esmée into secrecy against her will. The police, however, learn the identity of the two women who visited Lord Farndale just before his death. Mrs. Sinclair, fearing arrest or detention as a material witness, persuades Esmée to accompany her to Paris. John Arden, whose interest in Esmée has been aroused because he fears that she is under the influence of an unscrupulous creature, saves her from arrest by kidnaping her at the railroad station from behind Mrs. Sinclair's back. He takes her to the apartment of Andy Burke, one of his best friends, and Burke turns over his rooms and his housekeeper to her. The friends put their heads together in Esmée's behalf, but in the midst of their planning Furneaux of Scotland Yard joins them. Esmée tells her story to the men and at the completion of it the detective agrees to help her.

Esmée, who is the granddaughter of Lord Farndale, had never seen the old man until just before his death. Her father, only child of the earl, had quarreled with him in his youth, had gone out to the Argentine, married, lived and died there. Her mother had died when she was very young. Mrs. Sinclair, a friend of the family, had been very kind to her after her father's death and had invited the lonely young girl to live with her. There Esmée met Juan de Braganza, a young Argentinian, who asked her to marry him. She refused him. Juan invited Esmée for a ride one day and he took her out into the country and they stopped at an inn for coffee. Esmée grew ill after drinking it, but maintains she never lost consciousness. She was asked to sign the inn's register, but she refused and demanded to be taken back to town.

Furneaux tells her that Juan de Braganza claims that she is his wife.

Esmée decides to go back to Mrs. Sinclair and Furneaux agrees to let her go. Mrs. Sinclair and Braganza, who has arrived in London, are placed under surveillance and complete protection is given Esmée by the police.

John Arden follows Braganza to Paris at Furneaux's suggestion and there the trail leads him to Lady Doone, Esmée's greataunt and sister of Lord Farndale, who has lived abroad for fifteen years. Braganza tries to enlist her aid in having Esmée acknowledge him as her husband, but, disliking his appearance, she gives him very little encouragement. Arden wins the old lady completely when he tells her that he intends to run down Braganza's false claim and to marry Esmée himself. He induces Lady Doone to come back to England and place Esmée under her care. Aunt and niece are attracted to each other at sight.

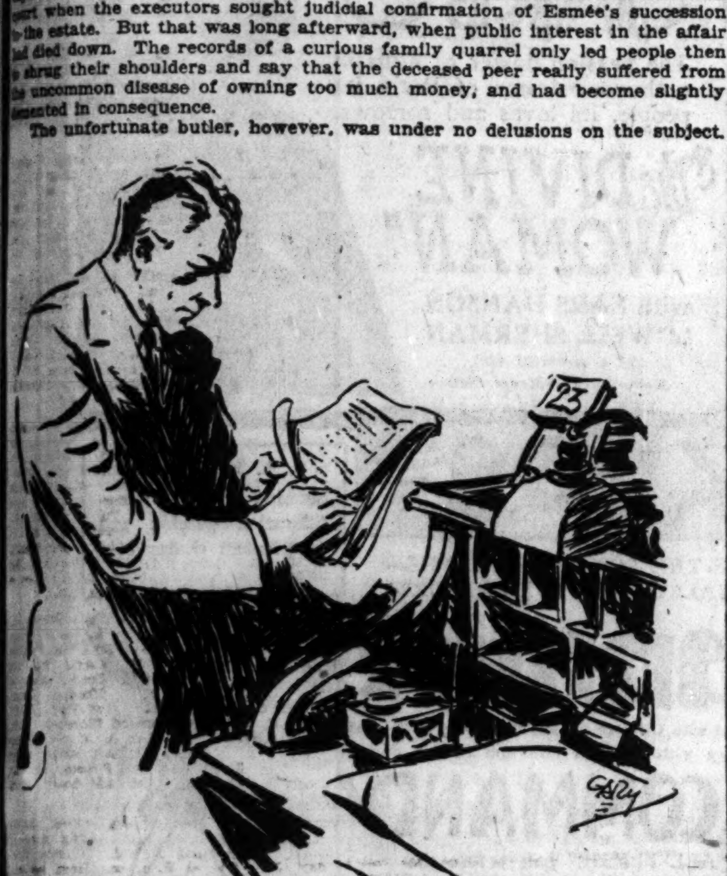

Buchanan, Lord Farndale's butler and lifelong enemy, confesses to the murder.

INSTALLMENT LVI.

BUCHANAN'S STATEMENT.

Neither Buchanan's statement nor Lord Farndale's voluminous and most explicit diary were ever published in extenso. Certain extracts were read in court when the executors sought judicial confirmation of Esmée's succession to the estate. But that was long afterward, when public interest in the affair had died down. The records of a curious family quarrel only led people then to shrug their shoulders and say that the deceased peer really suffered from the uncommon disease of owning too much money, and had become slightly demented in consequence.

The unfortunate butler, however, was under no delusions on the subject.

So I gave him enough poison to kill a dozen men.

Its opening sentences, which had caused Sheldon to turn instantly to the end of the story, were very much to the point.

"Lord Farndale, my late master," he wrote, "believed during the last forty years that he was possessed of a devil, an almost benevolent fiend which directed him in every enterprise, but caused him to cast aside all decent human instincts and thus leave his brain clear to work out his financial schemes. But I have known throughout nearly all those years that he was far more a demon than a man. It was this dreadful knowledge which drove his unhappy wife and son to exile, and his sister to live abroad, and led him to harrow the feelings of mother and son with the utmost malignity. I have seen and heard him address some invisible demon apparently standing at his side when his wife was seated with him at the table. She, poor lady, would scream and make for the door, often trembling so violently that I had to assist her. He tried to play the same trick on his son, but Mr. William poured a decanter of cold water over him, saying cheerfully that the sudden shock would be good for his nerves. That incident really began their lifelong feud.

"But Lord Farndale dared not face publicity. Luckily for Lady Bermore, she was safeguarded by a liberal marriage settlement which sufficed for her needs and her son's. Lady Doone he ignored. Her husband was dead, and his metallurgical skill was no longer available. By a singular and most disastrous contrivance of fate, or whatever influence it may be which controls our destinies, it became my lot to endure his secret madness during the larger part of my active existence. First his wife went—then his heir—then his sister—but I, his lawful first cousin, remained, though not altogether unwillingly, because I had a sacred trust and meant to serve without any personal consideration one whom I loved, the child, the delightful girl, the very fine and gracious lady who became the mother of Miss Esmée Bermore.

"Perhaps I ought to have cut short this man's evil career many years ago. But in manhood and middle age I could not bring myself to accomplish a dreadful task. It is all very well to talk of committing what we call a cold-blooded murder, but it is an altogether different thing to do it. If God puts certain detestable creatures on earth it is not for man to decide, according to a law of his own, that they are not fit to live. I believe now I was wrong. I ought to have obeyed my first instincts and paid the penalty, leaving the ultimate judgment to a higher authority than a judge or jury."

Small wonder, therefore, that Sheldon, having read so far, should seek to find out if Buchanan admitted that he had at last fulfilled his dread intent. The document was quite explicit throughout.

"So I gave him enough of the poison to kill a dozen strong men," were the concluding words. "It was hard to get rid of him, or, as it may well have been, of the fiend he harbored. His constitution was strong as the steel he and Sir Archibald Doone had devised. I meant him to die by slow degrees, to waste away under the very eyes of a skilled doctor, but when I knew that he was about to execute a new will and probably leave his whole fortune for some high-sounding purpose that would make his name famous forever, I resolved to end the business by one dose, which he swallowed as a bromide only a few minutes before Mrs. Sinclair and Miss Esmée were admitted to the house. I did not know who they were. I was startled when I saw the girl's face, but, after so many years, and owing to the change in fashion of women's garments, I did not recognize her as her mother's daughter. Even had I done so, her wicked grandfather's days were numbered then. If death can ever be really a pleasant thing it is made agreeable for me by the certainty that she will inherit and, I hope, make good use of Lord Farndale's millions. She is, I am sure, free of any taint of his madness. His father showed signs of it, but was less educated than his son, who developed it by reading occult books, mostly in foreign languages, from which he extracted only the pernicious parts. Mr. William, a splendid youngster in the early days, cut himself completely adrift as soon as he discovered the truth. And I, of the same blood, am certainly no believer in good devils!

"You and others will surely find every word I have written corroborated in the dead man's diary. I ought to add an ironmaster in the north of England, ... and cast off his sister because she married a tradesman in Ayton ... They were my parents. They always remained poor, and, when they died, the only service my uncle rendered me was to offer me a place in his household. I have shown what this appointment led to.

"That is all. 'The rest is silence.' THOMAS BUCHANAN."

The foregoing extracts were those which Furneaux, like Sheldon, read first. He, too, glanced perfunctorily at the main body of the letter, but saw that it dealt almost exclusively with the birth, parentage, and early history of Elizabeth Maynard. There was nothing here which called for instant action. When he turned back to examine with critical eye the butler's opening sentences his colleague, who was watching him, broke a silence of some minutes' duration.

"Tell me," he said, "are there people living today who really believe in that kind of rot?"

Furneaux looked up angrily. The commonplace question had disturbed a train of thought. He was asking himself how much did Mrs. Sinclair know of all this, and if such knowledge did not account for her self-control—indeed, her truculence—in view of the dangerous position in which she found herself at the moment of Lord Farndale's death.

"Yes," he snapped. "People of low intelligence mostly, or the few whose intellectual powers have been strained by overuse. You're fairly safe. You come well within the happy mien."

At any other time the placid, eminently sensible Cumberland man would have smiled. That evening he was in no mood to find humor in Furneaux's sarcasm.

"You and I see too much of evil that we should wish to drive ourselves crazy by accepting such nonsense," he said seriously.

"O, I know—Dr. Inmingham-Jones. The valet told me."

"Capital! That gives us our chance. Ring up again, and see if he is there."

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

She was just a bad, naughty girl, that's what she was—Helen of Troy! Running off that way from her own Menelaus!

But Menney, he snored
And Helen was bored—

—And along came Paris, who understood her. And—

Paris said, "Come
To my Trojan home!
Your youth you are wasting,
No joys you are tasting.
Won't you come with Paris?"
Helen: The king 'twould embarrass.

"O, I COULDN'T!" she said, and fluttered away to Menelaus to gain a little stamina from a kind, husbandly glance.

But Menelaus, talking business with some fellows, had no time for kind, husbandly glances. Instead, he flung her the look of a love grown a little tired. "Run away, dear, I'm busy," said Menelaus.

Helen had really meant to, anyway, but that gave her a good excuse. When Menelaus woke up next morning—she was gone.

"Good!" said Menelaus to his old doorkeeper who had brought him the news. "Now we can go fishing!"

But O, no, he couldn't! Sparta had been itching for a war, but had had nothing to fight over. Let a good, juicy cause like the prince of Troy running off with their queen go by? Ninny on King Menelaus' tintype! The king must go to war!

You know what happened then. The thousand ships are launched in due course of time, and so, and so and so.

But you'll never get the real lowdown on the affairs of Helen until you see this gloriously funny show at the Roosevelt.

It is not much of a copy of John Erskine's novel—though adapted from same and bearing the author's laughing approval. No, "Helen of Troy," the picture, is its own elegant excuse for being. Racy, clever, and, as I said, mighty funny.

Maria Corda makes a fascinating and credible Helen. Lewis Stone's Menelaus is a knockout. Ricardo Cortez is a picturesque Paris, but really the least noticeable member of the cast, and George Fawcett, as the wry-eyed doorkeeper, and Tom O'Brien, as the voice of the army, are flashing spots on the bright armor of the whole.

"Helen of Troy" has been magnificently set and directed and the subtitles are something grand!

Two Men and a Horse Get Most of Laurels Here

Unless I miss my guess—as often occurs—these Tim McCoy westerns will be playing the big houses before long.

"The Law of the Range" is a gem of a prairie film. A western with all the fixin's that go to make a walloper, but minus the struts and bravado found in the rank and file and plus a poignant humanness and manner.

The story is of two brothers, separated in childhood, who meet many years later when one is a bandit and the other a Texas ranger.

The girl in the case is Joan Crawford. The boys' mother is played by Bodil Rosing, and they are both splendid, though they only figure mildly in the picture's action. It's the men who count, and, headed by Col. Tim McCoy, who is at his able, fearless, good looking, unself-conscious best, how they DO count!

Rex Lease—where has he been all our lives—as the brother, puts a lot into his rôle of the reckless, fated "Solitaire Kid." And I believe the next laurel wheath must be handed to the colonel's white horse.

A fine, workmanlike, intensely interesting picture, this one, with a touching and unusual ending.

See you tomorrow!

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mrs. Laura Judd, 931 East 44th street, was awarded $5.

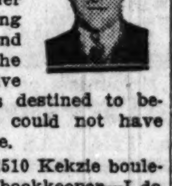

The Question.

Do you like the name of Christopher Columbus for the outer drive?

Where Asked.

7 South Dearborn street.

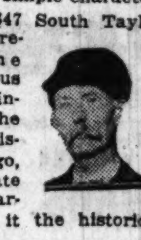

The Answers.

Harry Tarnoff, 2407-B South 52d avenue, Cicero, salesman—Yes, for the reason that Columbus was the discoverer of America and no other name is more fitting than his to honor and be honored by the world famous drive that this one seems destined to become. The officials could not have made a better choice.

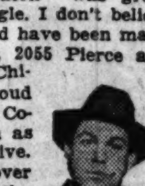

Miss Mabel Ford, 2510 Kekzie boulevard, bookkeeper—I do not. I think the name is too long. I think there are a lot of prettier names, without using a famous man's name. Why use the name of any man? Why not use some name typical of Chicago? The logical name for it would be Chicago drive, or something of like, simple character.

Albert A. Palm, 647 South Taylor avenue, Oak Park, retired—The name Christopher Columbus appeals to me. The intention is to make the drive something distinctive for Chicago, and it is appropriate and in complete harmony to link with it the historical name of Columbus.

Miss Marie Donohue, 4348 South Artesian avenue, school teacher—I like the name. There can be no argument over its appropriateness. Many names have been suggested, and it must be presumed that due consideraton was given to it from every angle. I don't believe a better choice could have been made.

Jacob Silverstein, 2055 Pierce avenue, salesman—Chicago ought to be proud that Christopher Columbus was chosen as the name for the drive. It takes one back over the centuries to the discovery of this country and that thought lends something of dignity and Americanism when thinking of the drive.

OUR SECRET AMBITION

Music in Varied Form and Combination Is Given on Sunday Bills

BY EDWARD MOORE.

A midwinter collection of concerts yesterday afternoon and evening disclosed many varieties of music in solo and various combinations. The People's Symphony orchestra, directed by P. Marinus Paulsen at the Eighth Street theater, has made astonishing progress in tone, flexibility, and balance since its organization, as it showed in Henry Hadley's "Herod" overture. The soloist, Gertrude Morse Webster, is a soprano with a Galli-Curci motivation in costume, and with a voice of charming, youthful quality, of accurate sense of pitch, and of unusual dexterity in the tricks and graces of coloratura ornamentation. Her group of songs was rewarded with an encore, Liza Lehman's "Prince Charming."

At the Goodman theater the London string quartet did many good works to the pontifical art of chamber music. The Beethoven Quartet in F, op. 59, No. 1, became a matter of smooth, warm, and at the same time shapely and restrained performance. A first class organization, this, deserving of many hearings.

The Metropolitan Church choir, a colored organization, appeared at Orchestra hall under the direction of J. Wesley Jones, with many assisting artists, singers, a pianist, another conductor, and an organist. It is a large, resonant, and well trained chorus, and particularly exhilarating when it sings spirituals.

Returning to the Playhouse, Harold Bauer was discovered in the process of applying his expert hands, fine brain, and ripened experience upon such an unfruitful museum piece of the piano as Schumann's "Davidsbündlertänze." At that, he brought out more interesting and ingratiating details than it was supposed this transcontinental work possessed, and when he finally arrived at Chopin's Polonaise in F sharp minor, he gave it a performance to make his whole audience, piano students and outsiders alike, rejoice and call him great.

In the evening that astonishing person, Rosa Raisa, appeared as a concert artist with Giacomo Rimini in the Auditorium, singing not only in her vested right as a dramatic soprano, but as a lyric and coloratura as well. It was a benefit concert for her scholarship fund, but it would have taken rank as a musical event under any circumstances. Mr. Rimini gave the singing performance of his life, and Miss Raisa's dainty deftness in her part of the "Don Pasquale" duet was nothing short of startling. There was also "Casta Diva" out of "Norma," another marvel.

Another member of the Civic Opera company, Albert Rappaport, tenor, gave his first Chicago recital at Kimball hall. Here was another surprise, for Mr. Rappaport has a better voice and is a better singer than his rôles in the opera company have permitted him to prove. "Every Valley," from "The Messiah" was far and away ahead of any performance by any choral organization here in years, and a group of lieder following was sung with beautiful voice and easy mastery.

"Samson and Delilah" Is Given Belated First Performance

BY HAZEL MOORE.

A belated first performance was offered Sunday opera patrons for the last Sunday matinée of the Civic Opera season at the Auditorium yesterday. Saint-Saëns' symphonic opera, "Samson and Delilah," was sung by some of the most heroic members of the company. Heroic in stature and voice were the Delilah of the pulchritudinous Cyrena Van Gordon, the robust Samson of Charles Marshall, and the very high priest of Cesare Formichi. Only a step down were Polese and Cotreuil, making much of small parts, and the pictorial Philistine of Mojica.

If there be a flaw in the singing of this fine cast, it was that of too continuously heroic singing, without the light and shade that Mr. Weber injected into his orchestra. The audience was fully content, however, and rose mightily to acclaim the second act duet of Delilah and Samson.

As usual, the deepest pitfalls were reserved for the last scene in the temple. Here Samson had indeed divine assistance, one which evidently needed and received none of his in demolishing the temple.

Here, too, comes a splendid chance for the ballet, a blazing bacchanal. Yesterday's avoided a blaze and glowed mildly instead. As in previous performances, individual bits stood out well, but were hampered by the inept design of the whole. Yurieva, lovely in classic dancing, failed to register as a pagan Philistine bacchante.

THEATER

EARL CARROLL'S VANITIES:

Fourth show of the name to be exhibited in Chicago: made known (by Mr. Carroll) January 22, 1928, in the Illinois Theater, with Moran and Mack, Julius Tannen, Johnny Dooley, Norman Frescott, Cliff Crane, Frances Marchant, Isabelle Mohr, Bebe Stanton, Brian McDonald, and many others—mostly girls.

DESPITE that Joe Cook isn't in it, this is easily the best of the four issues of the Vanities so far offered here. It is one of those this-and-that shows, with lines, rimes, and tunes by nobody in particular, although a number of persons are named in the playbill as having written them; and it may be that they wrote them. The point is that they didn't write (a) Moran and Mack, (b) Mr. Tannen's chatter, or (c) Mr. Dooley's falls; and the reasons why this fourth Vanities is the best that Mr. Carroll has freighted hither are (a) Moran and Mack, (b) Mr. Tannen's chatter, and (c) Mr. Dooley's falls, if you get what I think I mean.

Moran and Mack have two chances, and pick up both. The "routine," as actors' lingo has it, is new in both duologues: first, they are convicts on a rockpile, and, then, they are oilers on a locomotive. As is proper, neither the rockpile nor the locomotive means anything as Mr. Moran asks the questions, with never a smile, and as Mr. Mack gives the answers, with a falling inflection in his sarcasms that is gorgeously suggestive of Wilton Lackaye when performing dead-level scenes in drawing-room plays. Mr. Mack, as I was delighted to record when he and Mr. Moran last favored us, has developed a style and a personality, and is no longer a labored echo of Bert Williams. How much of their present give-and-take has found its way onto Moran and Mack's discs I don't know: I am here merely to tell you that they are as funny, at least, as they were when here in 1925 in an issue of the Greenwich Village Follies.

Mr. Tannen has been away so long that he has all the effect of a witty new-comer; and he is far, far better than I remember him ever to have been in anything else. He has—inadvertently, I trust—taken to looking like Richard Bennett; but he is funny. He has developed an enviable technique as a seal-master, and displays it in a scena with a seal which talks much like Senator Heflin, the popular Dry and patriot from Alabama. The seal is so gifted that I was of the opinion as it went through its chore that it was an Equity actor sewed in a sack; and I accepted it for what it was only when I failed, after terrific scrutiny, to discover a seam in its system. . . . You will like Mr. Tannen.

You will like Mr. Dooley, too: that is, you will like him if you have retained something of the spirit of youth, and if you be capable of laughing at Mussolini, at Scott McBride, and at persons bearing a general resemblance to Gifford Pinchot, Aimée McPherson, and other comedians not in possession of paid-up membership-cards in the actors' union. For Mr. Dooley, like Moran and Mack and like Mr. Tannen, also is funny. Indeed, he is being funny to me for the first time: I've spent seasons in wondering why he has been hired to perform; and now I know. He and Mr. Crane do more with the old "act" about paper-hangers than have any other performers with paste-buckets in the annals of drama.

And there you have the names of those who make the current Vanities worth whatever is charged for seats (at the box-office) in the Illinois. . . . Mr. Frescott is a good "straight-man"; and the others are just the others. The girls dance, after a fashion, and have parades and pageants and things, impersonating chandeliers, looking-glasses, the gates of Madrid, the Northwest Mounted, and Frank L. Smith's vacant chair in the Senate. But, then, there is the old minstrel-stage fun-in-an-asylum afterpiece, with Mr. Dooley as the recalcitrant patient; and, so, what does it matter how versatile the girls be?

Notes of the Stage.

Miss Cornelia Otis Skinner yesterday gave the second of her three recitals in the Harris, and again made good. Her program was mainly of matter not used in the first recital. She again had the laughter, the tears, the applause, and the patent admiration of her audience. . . . The final recital will be next Sunday.

"Peggy-Ann," with Miss Helen Ford and Miss Lulu McConnell, will be made known tonight in the Selwyn. 'Tis said to have been liked in New-York, where it had quite a run.

10,000 Dentists Coming Here for Convention

Public Service Keynote of Meeting.

Public service is to be the keynote of the sixty-fourth annual meeting of the Chicago Dental society which opens a three day session tomorrow in the Drake.

All the 40,000 ethical dentists in the United States and Canada have been invited to attend and there have been 10,000 acceptances, according to Dr. Frank G. Conklin, president of the society. A program has been arranged to emphasize the dentist's part in the modern campaign to improve the general health of the community.

The public service committee of the society, whose function it is to work for the advancement of health by promotion of dental hygiene through the schools, the county board, the city and state health departments and the federation of women's clubs, is in charge of the program tomorrow evening.

Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, city health commissioner, is expected to outline the program of the city for establishing clinics for periodical examination of the teeth of all school children. Mayor Thompson is also on the program.

Again on Wednesday morning the public health phase of the dentist's work is to be stressed. Dr. John Sundwall, director of the division of hygiene, public health and physical education of the University of Michigan, is to talk on "Some important aspects of the public health work of the schools of interest to dentists."

There is to be a general session Wednesday morning for the discussion of focal infections and public health. Dr. W. H. G. Logan, dean of the Chicago College of Dental Surgeons; Dr. E. H. Hatton and Dr. J. Roy Blayney are to lead the discussion.

One of the largest dental clinics ever attempted is planned for tomorrow morning. More than 100 Chicago dentists are to demonstrate on molds what their plan of attack is to be and then will proceed to carry out their work on actual patients. Visiting dentists will conduct a similar clinic Thursday afternoon.

In connection with the program an exhibit of dental supplies and equipment, the value of which is estimated at $1,000,000, will be on display.

The annual meeting of the Chicago and Cook County Dental Assistants' association also will be held at the Drake during the convention.

Supper and Musical at Arts Club Brings Out Smart Audience

BY THALIA ——.

If the Arts club has any more such popular affairs as its supper and musical last night, its culinary department will have to be enlarged. There were 300 members and guests present, filling the galleries to their utmost capacity, for the supper at candle lighted, flower bedecked tables, and the program of songs given by Vannimareux later in the evening.

One of the largest and smartest groups was the party of which Miss Peggy Hamilton, attired in sapphire blue lace and a lemon colored shawl, was hostess. Her guests included the Billy Hubbards, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Winterbotham, Miss Eleanor Holden, Miss Janet Pauling and her fiancé, John Morse Elliott; Madame Vannimareux, Boutet de Monvel, William McKee, Miss Sarah Hinde, and the Thorne Donnelleys.

The Livingston Fairbanks, Mrs. Ogden T. McClurg, Admiral Frederic Powell, Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, and Edwin D. Krenn occupied one table together, and Mrs. Jacob Baur and Maj. Baur of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris made a congenial group.

Others present included Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Cudahy, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Affleck, Mr. and Mrs. Dale F. Brower, Mr. and Mrs. John J. May, Mrs. Peck Matthiessen, Mrs. John Clay, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Valentine, Mrs. Wentworth Field, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Clarke, Mrs. William S. Ennis, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Wheeler, Mrs. E. S. Hoche, Mrs. Theodore Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dutton, Mrs. Clyde Carr, Mrs. Joseph B. Long, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Swift, and Mr. and Mrs. John Sidney Burnet.

The Central Council for Nursing Education will hold its eighth annual meeting this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the directors' room of the Foreman National bank. Mrs. David Wilson Graham is chairman of the council, and her co-workers include Mrs. Perkins B. Bass, Mrs. John W. Gary, Mrs. Ernest E. Irons, Mrs. John W. O'Leary, Mrs. James A. Patten, Mrs. James Simpson, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. Hathaway Watson, Mrs. Harry F. Williams, and Mrs. John P. Wilson.

Members of the Junior league will be guests of the Goodman theater next Saturday at a matinee performance of "The Teller of Tales," followed by a tea party, at which Mrs. Kenneth Sawyer Goodman is to pour.

The Junior Friends of Art, of which Miss Olga Menn is president, will hold their January meeting tomorrow afternoon at the residence of Mrs. C. E. White of 1258 Lake Shore drive.

Mrs. George Robb Collins is to give a tea on Wednesday afternoon at her residence at 448 Barry avenue for the young women who are assisting with the ticket sale for the Fort Sheridan Polo club's polo ball at the Hotel Sherman on Feb. 3, and for some of the fort's bachelor officers.

Miss Bluford Richardson, the Ralph E. Richardsons' daughter, is wholeheartedly immersed in her interior decorating job, but she couldn't resist the invitation of her grandmother, Mrs. John D. Richardson of Fairfield, Barryville, Va., for her and her debutante sister, Frances, to go traveling abroad, so they're to sail on Feb. 21, accompanied also by Mrs. Richardson's sister, Mrs. J. G. Childs of New York City, for three months in Europe.

Dr. and Mrs. Arnold C. Klebs of Switzerland are to land in this country on Feb. 1 for a round of visits. They will be with Mrs. Klebs' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Burry Jr., in Washington, D. C., where the Burrys have taken a house in Georgetown, and will come on later for a Chicago stay.

Miss Ellen Holt of 21 East Elm street and Miss Minnie May Rumsey of 811 South Ashland boulevard departed last week for Y Lightning ranch, at Hereford, Ariz., where they will be for the remainder of the winter.

Other Chicagoans who are planning to sojourn on Arizona's plains, or who already are there, are Mr. and Mrs. James O. Heyworth of Lake Forest, who are at Chandler, where Mr. Heyworth can recuperate from his recent illness; D. Mark Cummings, also at Chandler; Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart Dunley Jr.; the De Forest Hulburds, who have a ranch of their own, and the Taylor Strawns, at Castle Hot Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Frost (Patricia Healy) are to depart this week for a month's stay at the Marcelis Healy ranch, near Castle Hot Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Thompson of 230 East Delaware place departed on Saturday for their annual winter stay at the Everglades club at Palm Beach.

The George Schofields and their daughter, Miss Caroline Schofield, and the George Bards, all of Highland Park, have departed for California, to remain until spring.

The William A. Nitzes of 1220 East 56th street have changed their plans for an immediate European trip and will not sail before the end of March. Mrs. Nitze has just returned from Baltimore, where her father was ill. She and Mr. Nitze will return to Harvard for William Jr.'s graduation in June, and the three will spend the summer abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Karl Wilson of Sheridan road, Winnetka, will return this week from New York. They have been there since last Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Webber McNear and Miss Janice M. McNear are spending a fortnight in New York.

Mrs. Oren E. Taft of 220 East Walton place returned yesterday after a week's sojourn in New York.

White Elephant Shop Gets Rare Treasures to Stock Its Shelves

The White Elephant Rummage shop has come into a veritable treasure trove of choice and valuable things, bequeathed to it by a friend whose trustees prefer that she remain anonymous. So the Children's Memorial hospital will receive the proceeds of countless imported objets d'art, a set of Boule bedroom furniture reported to be one of only seven sets in these United States, a marquetry desk said to have come from Warwick castle, a case full of antique and modern jewelry, much of which was purchased abroad for Christmas gifts, rugs, tapestries, a set of flat silver, and a great deal of miscellaneous wearing apparel and linens. Some of the directors of the hospital who know good bargains when they see them have already annexed some of the articles in the sale.

Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, who captains the group of women managing the monthly home dressmakers' sales, departed yesterday for New York City to be with her daughter, Miss Edith Cummings, who is deep in her chosen occupation of interior decorating.

$200,000 Is Sought for Children's Fund

A campaign for $200,000 as a perpetual endowment, the interest from which is to support a social service department in the Washington Park Community hospital, 437 East 60th street, to care for needy, sick children, was started yesterday by the board of directors of the hospital, it was announced.

The first step in the campaign will be a theater benefit at the Eighth Street theater, March 16 and 17, when a presentation of "If I Were King" will be given by amateur actors under the direction of Mrs. George E. Q. Johnson. Workers expect to get at least $25,000 from the sale of tickets and programs.

"The funds being collected will be used strictly as an endowment, only the interest being used to carry on the social service work," the announcement stated. "Should our institution ever cease to exist, the money will be turned over to another reputable hospital to be used for the same purpose."

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Quick Coffee Cake.

The following recipe for a quick coffee cake is a simple one of the sort that is much in demand. It has a little different top from a good many and one that I consider highly satisfactory. It is also flavored differently. As a product it is excellent for a breakfast bread, for luncheon or for afternoon tea. We would suggest that the amount of sugar should be used to suit the taste, anywhere from two to four tablespoons, and we would like to call attention to the fact that less flour is used in this than such recipes formerly. We are learning that a very light and spongy moisture effect in such breads is more agreeable than the drier effects produced by using more flour.

The formula is: One and one-half cups flour, one level teaspoon of salt, two to four tablespoons of sugar, two teaspoons baking powder, one egg, one-half cup milk, two teaspoons butter, and most of the grated rind of one small lemon. If the lemon is larger than the smallest ones, perhaps half the rind is sufficient.

In order to have just the right amount of flour, measure it first after it is sifted, then add the baking powder and salt and sift it again into a bowl, making a well in the flour; and break in an egg. Add the milk and butter melted, then beat the whole thoroughly. A method we have noted in some advertising literature for coffee cake of this type with a different shortening had this: "Do not scrape the dough pan clean, but leave just a bit of the dough and add two tablespoons of sugar, one tablespoon of flour and some cinnamon. Rub together with the hands and sprinkle over the top of the cake. To add richness dot with bits of butter." Bake at 400 degrees Fahrenheit for about twenty minutes.

We did not use this top, but one consisting of two tablespoons of sugar, one tablespoon of flour, and the white of one egg, which was mixed and spread over the top and which we considered superior to the cinnamon top. Because of this sweet top we would prefer this cake unsweetened. It is likely to be more agreeable when cold, if not sweetened, and always to have the contrast of a sweet top with a plain bread interior is pleasant.

A new family had just moved into the neighborhood and two of the neighbor women, merely out of curiosity, were asking the 3 year old hopeful of the newly arrived some leading questions.

"And what kind of work does your father do?" simpered one of the women to the small boy.

"O, my daddy," answered the youngster with a Helen Wills expression and a matter-of-fact tone, "he eats and sleeps and paddles little boys 'at talk too much." I. L. S.

Nabholtz's 293 Wins El Paso Golf Tourney

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 22.—[Special.]—Larry Nabholtz, unattached professional from Cleveland, won the second annual El Paso open golf tournament here today with a total of 293 for four rounds over the El Paso Country club course. MacDonald Smith of Great Neck, L. I., was second, one stroke behind.

Smith started the last round five strokes behind and he passed all the players in front of him except Nabholtz, who sank a 10 foot putt on the last green to win.

Bill Burke of New York, who was leading the field going into the last round; Bill Mehlhorn of Pittsburgh; Al Espinosa of Chicago, and Willie Hunter of Los Angeles tied for third at 295.

Hunter drew up with the leaders by scoring a 70, the best card of the day, on his final round. Mehlhorn lost several strokes on short missed putts, one being on the lip of the hole. Attempting to tap the ball into the hole with one hand, he failed to move the ball, although it was less than two inches from the cup.

Nabholtz, who is 26 years old, is rated one of the longest drivers in the game. He gained his first wide prominence in the national championship of the Professional Golfers' association at French Lick Springs, Ind., in 1924, when he defeated the defending champion, Gene Sarazen, and the following day carried Jim Barnes to the 36th hole in the semi-finals.

Nabholtz, Burke, and Espinosa, playing together, were tied for the lead with only nine holes left to play. Nabholtz started for home 3-3-3. Burke lost his chance when his drive on the 321 yard eleventh hole rolled into a trap near the green. Mac Smith plugged along playing even 4s on his final round, but he was unable to make up strokes lost through bad fairway lies on his earlier rounds.

Rangers Beat Pirates, 4-1; Tie for Lead

New York, Jan. 22.—[Special.]—The New York Rangers sank the Pittsburgh Pirates at Madison Square Garden tonight by a 4 to 1 score, winning their first game on the home rink in two weeks. The victory put the Rangers in a tie with Boston for the lead in the American section of the National Hockey league.

The Rangers had their dazzling moments tonight, especialy the Cook boys and Frank Boucher. This trio skated rings around the Pirate s at times and a big crowd of 14,000 fans chortled at the fast play. The game had its pugilistic moments also, especially in the final period, when Bill Cook, Ranger captain, and Hal Cotton of the opposing forces indulged in a short but spirited bout with their fists. Altogether the referees handed out 17 penalties for rough play.

COUGARS NIP BRUINS.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 22.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins, leaders in the American section of the National Professional Hockey league, went down to defeat before the driving onslaught of the Detroit Cougars, 3 to 2, in a hard fought game that went into two overtime periods here tonight.

Hitchman and Galbraith scored for the Bruins.

GRANGE ELEVEN BEATS FRIEDMAN TEAM BY 9 TO 7

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Red Grange's Yankees were a field goal better than Benny Friedman's team in a professional football game here today, the Yankees winning, 9 to 7, after a game replete with thrills. Grange and Friedman starred, the ex-Illinois star having two passes for twenty yards each and one run of twenty-seven yards. Friedman also tossed the pigskin with excellent results.

MIXING POLITICS WITH SPORT BAD FOR BOTH: PEGLER

Raps Britten's Move in Army-Navy Tangle.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 22.—The Honorable Fred A. Britten, congressman from Illinois, is trying to restore the Army-Navy football game and that is just great except for the danger that in so doing he will drag this sport event down to the level of the great profession of politics.

In his latest outgiving on the subject of the Army-Navy game, the honorable gent from Illinois refers to nine of the Army's football players, all of them cadets in good standing at the United States Military academy and pretty good men as you may infer from that, as outlaws. He calls them outlaws on the ground that they have played more football than they would have been allowed to play if they had gone to the Naval academy instead of the Military academy.

West Pointers Defenseless.

The nine cadets individually are defenseless against congressmen who call them outlaws. They have to rely on the individual congressman's sense of fairness, and this sense may not be highly developed in a politician. Even the commissioned officers of the Military academy have to be cautious about talking back to politicians who are in a position to yank them out of West Point and send them elsewhere for the good of the service and who can adjust the needs of the service to their personal ideas.

Of course, the nine cadets named by the Honorable Britten are not outlaws even in the athletic sense and nobody believes they are, least of all the Honorable Britten, who is too well informed on the subject not to know these cadets complied with every requirement of their school in making the team. On the contrary, he might more reasonably have called them outlaws if they had not played football, the West Point system being what it is.

May Become Political Jobs.

Thus far the Army-Navy game has been reasonably free of the influence of the politician. But if it is to come under the coercive regulation of the congress the time will come when the honorable gents will be trading postoffice and drainage ditches for appointments to the position of full back or right end on the service teams.

I suggest that if the Army and Navy football teams are to come within the political system, all positions on both academy teams be subject to direct primaries and popular elections, it is possible that a flyweight center or a feeble minded quarter back might be carried into the lineup by the impetus of a party landslide now and again, but the country always has to reckon on a certain proportion of Upshaws, Herricks, and Cyclone Bill Davises in congress and the football teams simply would have to muddle through as congress does under such handicaps.

Inasmuch as the New York Giants and the Boston Braves both decline to tell the customers all about the Hornsby deal, it will be interesting to watch Hornsby's further career and to note whether he drops out of the major leagues before his time.

The baseball industry has a peculiar system of ethics and morals, and there have been several cases in which all sixteen firms by some freak of coincidence unanimously decided that they were not interested in an athlete who was still a pretty able ball player and worth cash on the hoof.

The Giants, it may be noted, have figured in every important baseball scandal save one since scandal became popular in the fall of 1920.

Norwegian Royalty Sees Thunberg Skate to Title

Indiana-Purdue Battle Headlines Big Ten Card

One of the most important of the games having a direct bearing on the Western conference basketball championship will be played tomorrow night at Lafayette, Ind., where Purdue and Indiana meet for the first time this season. This and the Minesota-Chicago game here Saturday are the only contests on this week's schedule.

The annual clash between the teams from the state where basketball is a principal part of every layette should be a real thriller. Past performances show each to have a high powered scoring offense, built about a tall and accurate center, and each to have defensive qualities below par.

McCracken Hub of Attack.

Branch McCracken, the big boy from Monrovia, Ind., is the hub of the Indiana attack and even such a tight defensive team as Chicago, which has effectively stopped many high powered scorers, was unable to stop him. A goodly portion of his success, however, belongs to Art Beckner and Dale Wells, veteran forwards. Tomorrow night, however, will be the last time Beckner will fight for the Cream and Crimson, for his three year eligibility period expires with the Purdue game.

McCracken is matched by Charles Stretch Murphy, six feet six inches of developed dribbling, passing, shooting and jumping ability, with a lot of good nature thrown in, they say. Murphy also has averaged about as many points a game as McCracken.

Murphy is fed chiefly by a diminutive veteran forward, Babe Wheeler, who boasts in speed what he lacks in height. Both Murphy and McCracken play the center position, and each is a sophomore.

Test for Gophers.

The Chicago-Minnesota game that will provide the only Saturday night diversion for Big Ten cage fans will test Minnesota's claim for recognition. Under a new coach, McMillan of Idaho, the Gophers have shown better than expected, and with only a defeat by Wisconsin charged against them, they remain a title possibility.

ANDERS HAUGEN WINS SKI MEET AT OGDEN DUNES

Slide Is Not Completed; Fans Disappointed.

Ties Record

WESTBY, Wis., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Lars Haugen, national amateur ski jumping champion, tied the world's record for a scaffold jump when he hurled himself through the air for 183 feet at the sixth annual tournament of the Snowflake Ski club of Westby today.

Haugen won the class A division of the tournament with 18.475 points, while Peter Falstad, Sioux Valley club, Canton, S. D., had 18.415 to place second.

Anders Haugen, picked as one of three men to represent the United States at the Olympic games ski tourney at St. Moritz, Switzerland, next month, whipped down the half completed slide at Ogden Dunes, Ind., yesterday and, despite a strong west wind, won the meet with the mediocre jumps of 87 and 92 feet respectively. Haugen was the whole show, bagging all major honors. More than 30 riders competed. The tournament was viewed by 12,000.

Meet Disappoints.

The meet was something of a disappointment to many who had made the long journey in the hope of seeing many long jumps and perhaps a world's record established. The club announcements had advertised the slide as being the longest in this part of the country. But the slide was only 150 feet long as compared with the 345 feet reported. Oscar Hiis, club president, explained this was due to failure of the contractors to finish the structure as agreed. A force of workmen were employed Saturday night and up to three o'clock yesterday afternoon to put the slide in shape. Thor Wollabeck, executive secretary of the club, declared that yesterday's jumps were exceptionally good in view of the shortness of the slide.

"The incomplete structure of the slide cut fully 100 feet off every jump made," he said.

Haugen, in addition to winning the tourney championship, also made the longest jump of the day. The total of his jumps was the longest and he was also awarded the prize for making the most graceful jumps, form counting as much as distances in ranking the prize winners.

Class B honors went to Roy Mikkelsen, recently arrived from Norway. Mikkelsen jumped 83 and 75 feet, respectively, to win. Alf Bakken, Norge Ski club, placed second in class A.

Six Hall Boys Compete.

A feature of the tourney was the competition of the Hall brothers of Detroit. There are six boys in the Hall family and all of them participated in yesterday's meet. Three in class A completed their jumps. In class B George Hall made two successful leaps, while two younger brothers, Magnus and Arthur, fell in their first tries.

There were several innovations at yesterday's meet. One was the triple ski ride down the hill by Lorraine Madsan, Illinois Women's Athletic club, accompanied by two Norge club riders. Miss Madsan, held by the hand on each side by riders, made a successful trip down the hill. Another stunt was a pulley car which enabled the jumpers to ride back up the hill.

The meet was remarkable for the number of successful jumps made and there were but few last minute scratches. Following are the prize winners:

Vienna Beats Thistles, 1-0, in Cup Game

The Vienna soccer team won its first round match in the national cup competition yesterday by defeating the Thistle A. C., 1 to 0, at De Paul field. Krabec, playing inside right, scored the only goal after 40 minutes of play. Further scoring was absent because of a high cross wind that handicapped the players.

The absence of Greenlees, their star center forward, disrupted the Thistles' entire team play and they never threatened to score at any stage.

Free for All Fight May End Ozark Basketball League

Springfield, Mo., Jan. 22.—[Special.]—Possibility of the Frisco Athletic league, composed of some of the strongest teams in the Ozark mountain region, being disbanded was seen today as a result of a free-for-all fight last night at competition during the course of a basketball game. A spectator tripped a Marshfield player and the fight was on. The players were locked in a room after the fight to prevent further violence and were guarded as they left town.

Gives Undertaker His Winning Race Ticket; Kills Self

New Orleans, Jan. 22.—(AP)—After writing a note in which he stipulated that a winning ticket for one of the races here Saturday should be given the undertaker, Robert F. Keeney, 50 years old, formerly of Pasadena, Cal., sent a bullet through his brain here today.

The ticket, which was on "Open Hand," will bring $13.78. In addition, $30.55 was found in a purse. The note specified that he be buried in a pauper's grave. No reason was given for the act.

Coming from behind on the last lap and flashing a burst of speed on the home stretch, Charles Delpier of the Eskimos club of Detroit defeated Henry Nelson of the Midwest A. C. by two feet and won the boys' senior race, the feature event of the twelfth annual Silver Skates Derbies of THE TRIBUNE held yesterday over a six lap course on the west lagoon of Washington park.

JOHN V. CLINNIN. [Derby Referee.]

It was a great race which closed an afternoon of interesting competition between the fastest boy and girl skaters in the middle west. The competition attracted a crowd of at least 30,000. South park police officials estimated it much larger. Some of the older officers of the park force asserted that at least 60,000 saw some of the races.

Ideal Racing Weather.

Weather conditions most of the afternoon were ideal for the event. Toward the end of the program the ice became soft around the edges but the racing course held up very well considering the warmth of the day. The lagoon and skating houses were fittingly decorated for the occasion and the crowd which came early stayed until the final race had been decided.

Although some of the other events were close and interesting, it remained for the boys' two mile senior event to furnish the thrill for the crowd. It was one of the best senior races ever held in connection with TRIBUNE Derbies and the finish was one of the closest.

Harry Littlefield of the Northwest Skating club went into the lead after Frank Reilly had sent the field away to a perfect start. Harry led the pack for the first eight laps and won the medal offered to the contestant who set the pace for the greatest number of circuits. Herbert Knudten of the Northwest Skating club stroked in second place and Henry Nelson of the Midwest A. C. maintained third position.

Nelson Takes Lead.

At the start of the ninth lap, Nelson forged to the front, passing the leaders on the back stretch. Delpier moved up to second position from a place back in the field. Nelson showed the way around the course at a dizzy clip, but he was unable to shake Delpier, who skated strongly. When the gun was fired to denote the final lap, Delpier tried to pass Nelson on the first turn. Henry stalled off the challenge and also the one on the back stretch.

Nelson swung into the home stretch about a foot in advance of the Detroiter. In the sprint to the tape, Delpier passed the fast tiring Nelson and crossed the red finish line two feet ahead of Henry, who had skated a brilliant race.

Art Peters of the Barrett A. C. came from behind to win third place, and Knudten of the Northwest S. C. took fourth place. Delpier stroked the distance in 6:27.

Jeanette Jacobson Wins.

Jeanette Jacobson of Henry playground won the girl's senior race by fifteen yards over her teammate, Marie Becker. Jeanette took the lead on the second lap and led for the remainder of the race over the six lap course. Miss Jacobson finished strongly as she glided across the finish line. Miss Jacobson also won the lap prize.

The girl's junior silver skates race went to Elizabeth Blaisdell of the Ohio Skating association of Cleveland, O. The Buckeye expert defeated Marie Fierce of the Barrett A. C. by five yards. Miss Blaisdell led from start to finish and also won the medal for leading the field for the greatest number of laps. Helen Bina of Le Moyne playground skated an excellent race and finished in third place.

Douglas Ellison of Henry playground captured the boy's intermediate Derby of one mile by eight yards from Art Conroy of the Barrett A. C. Ellison came from behind to win the race on the last two laps. He was caught in the pack during the early stages of the contest but managed to skate around the field and into the lead during the fourth lap. He stood off the challenges of Conroy on the last two laps and won by a comfortable margin. He also took the lap medal for setting pace. John Schenk of Henry playground was a good third and Al Schneider of the Barrett A. C. was fourth.

Cherin Nosed Out.

The boys' junior race went to James Bentley of Le Moyne playground, who skated around the field on the final lap to win the silver skates by three yards from Dan Cherin, an unattached performer. Cherin led for the first two laps, but Bentley flashed a burst of speed and passed Cherin on the back stretch. Cherin, however, would not call it quits and challenged Bentley on the home stretch. The pair put everything they had in their efforts, but Bentley had a little more reserve. James Martl of the Opal A. A. was third and Kenneth Rabe of the Barrett A. C. was fourth.

For seven years Wallace Fee, an excellent skater, had tried to win a pair of THE TRIBUNE'S silver skates. On several occasions he qualified for the final heats, but he could not quite muster enough speed and endurance to win a pair of the handsome trophies.

Yesterday he saw Wallace Fee Jr. skate to victory and pair of silver skates in the boys' juvenile Derby. It was the second race of the younger Fee. The little expert led the field from start to finish.

Marks Finishes Third.

E. McDonough of the Amphion A. C. was second and Wilbur Marks of the Portage Park Skating club in third place. The elder Fee came in for much good natured joshing from older skaters and officials after his son had won his trophy.

Skaters representing the Henry playground won the trophy offered to the team scoring the greatest number of points. The squad coached by John Mock scored 20 points in the six races. The Barrett A. C. was second with 17 points and LeMoyne playground third with 8. Thirteen teams broke into the point column.

Miss Jeane Boilotat of Detroit, one of the best skaters in the race, fell in the final heat of the girls' senior race. She was taken care of by Dr. M. J. Sullivan who stated the skater had suffered a broken cartilage in her right knee. After she fell, Miss Boilotat gamely got to her feet and tried to catch the field, but quit the race in front of the pavilion. Later she fainted, Dr. Sullivan gave first aid and the Detroit skater was able to leave the pond in a cab. Several other skaters were bruised as a result of falls and some were cut about the legs by approaching too closely to skaters in front of them.

Policemen Tumble.

The half mile race for police of the South park system was won by Wagner. Zielke was second and Henderson third. Four of the contestants fell and were unable to finish.

Over fifty per cent of the original field reported and the entire program was cmmpleted in two and one-half hours under the direction of the competent corps of officials in charge of Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin, the official referee.

Pruyn and Newberger, who have charge of the concessions in the park, gave buffet luncheon to officials in the refectory after the races had been completed. Summaries:

Coon, Possum Tasty Dish, Bob Explains

BY BOB BECKER.

Suburbanites, farmers or city dwellers who are waging a war against raccoons and opossums because they are killing chickens, ducks and other domestic fowls not only can realize money on the pelts of these animals, but they also can get an excellent dinner from a successful hunt. A raccoon roasted in the correct way is quite good eating.

In fact, coon, possum, beavertail, muskrats, varying hares and common rabbits may be added to the outdoorsman's bill of fare. When served correctly they provide toothsome dishes. Here is the way to roast a coon (preferably a young one):

Skin and dress him and be sure that you remove the scent glands under each front leg and on either side of the spine in the small of the back. Then wash the meat in cold and slightly salted water. Put the meat in a large pot and parboil with an onion in at least two waters.

Now you're ready to stuff the animal just like you'd stuff a chicken or turkey. We prefer sage, onions, a touch of garlic and the usual salt, pepper, celery or celery salt and bread crumbs. Put water in the roasting pan and distribute around the meat (in the water) two apples quartered. Roast the meat until it is browned. Serve with hot biscuit and candied sweet potatoes and you'll want to go coon hunting every night.

Tribute to Gene

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Tex Rickard believes Gene Tunney would fight every week "if opponents could be secured to oppose him," the New York promoter of things largely pugilistic said at a dinner honoring the heavyweight champion here last night. And Tunney defended himself against the charge of some sports writers that he lacks the "killer" instinct.

"The idea of the killer instinct being the predominant trait in the best boxers is a fallacy," he said. "If this were true the leading gunman would be the heavyweight champion of the world."

New York, Jan. 22.—[Special.]—The departure of Promoter Tex Rickard for Miami last Wednesday and the installation of John M. Chapman as vice president and assistant general manager in charge of the operation of the building in Rickard's absence, witnessed the launching of a thorough reorganization of Madison Square garden.

This became known when it was learned that six employês of the garden were dropped from the pay roll and indications that this wholesale discharge of employês was but a forerunner of more important action to be taken as the house cleaning plan proceeds.

Those Let Go.

Those discharged today were holders of minor positions. The most prominently known was Frank B. Flournoy, once the boxing matchmaker for Rickard, who after being discharged was reëngaged some time ago as an attaché of the box office in an unimportant rôle. Julius, the guardian of the door leading to the sanctum of Matchmaker Jess McMahon, was another. The door attendant in the hockey department whose name was not learned, was another dropped. And there is reason to believe that other and more important changes will be made Tuesday when the garden board of directors next convenes. A thorough reorganization of the hockey department, involving altogether new ideas of operating plans, is to be undertaken, too.

Cut Operating Costs.

The reorganization has for its purpose the minimizing of operating expenses without interfering with efficiency. It is expected that before Rickard returns from Miami the way will be paved for a saving of approximately $100,000 annually in the operating expenses and salaries of employês of the garden, and there will be placed at the disposal of Rickard and Vice President Chapman an organization which will work with machinelike regularity and efficiency.

The need for such a reorganization has long been hinted at, but never actually admitted. It is an open secret, however, that but for the tremendous profits accruing from the outdoor operations of Rickard in boxing, the garden would find it difficult to operate at a scale of success commensurate with the terrific investment the building represents on profits from indoor attractions alone.

Five Quintets Undefeated in Prep League

Games Today

Morgan Park at Calumet.
Parker at Bowen.
McKinley at Marshall.

With the completion of the first half of the schedule only five teams of the City Public High School Basketball league are undefeated—Lake View, Parker, and Crane heavies, and the lightweights of Morgan Park and Wendell Phillips. The half way mark in three of the sections was reached last week, while the west section has played six of its ten game schedule.

Lake View heavies have won all four of their games and appear headed for another north section title, if they are able to hold up after they lose Johnson, star forward by graduation. Crane sets the pace in the west section heavyweight race with six successive victories and is assured of a place in the semi-finals. Parker has annexed four straight south section triumphs.

In the lightweight class, Morgan Park's four victories in as many starts make it supreme in the south section. Wendell Phillips leads the lightweight parade in the central section, being successful in all four starts.

Roosevelt and Senn share the north section lightweight lead; Harrison lights set the pace in the west section pony race, and Englewood heavies are in first place in the central section. All of these leaders have lost one game.

EXPORT SALE OF CORN EXPANDS; MOVEMENT LATE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A movement of corn from the country to terminal markets is under way about thirty days later than usual. It is expected to continue for a month or more. It is estimated that Chicago cash handlers bought more than 1,500,000 bu of corn to arrive from the country during the week. Interior holders in Illinois and Indiana, alone, sold around 800,000 bu Friday and Saturday.

This corn was hedged by sales of March and May, the selling of which also encouraged that by pit operators who were bearish, with all the selling pressure, however, closing trades on Saturday were at losses of only ⅛@¼c as compared with a week ago, March corn being 88⅛@88⅜c, May 91⅛@91⅜c, July 92⅞c.

Export Business Larger.

No. 3 corn from Kansas City was offered here on Saturday at 2c under March, or about on a delivery basis. Export business was larger, and the impression prevails that all sales abroad are not reported. The basis for export corn at the gulf was said to be around 5¼@6c over Chicago May, at the close.

Corn prices usually advance from the low level in January and February up to about August. Last year at the end of January, May corn was 81c in Chicago, with July 81¼c. At the end of May, the latter was 97¼c, and July $1.00⅛.

Traders who are friendly to corn make the point that a year ago January corn was 9⅝s under May, against 4½c at present. No. 4 corn a year ago was 11½c under May against 5s at at present. There is accumulation of May and July corn on all breaks, while on bulges considerable corn comes out. As to the immediate future, trade sentiment is divided.

Prices for the week follow:

Foreigners Buy July Wheat.

There is an increasing disposition especially among foreigners who are said to have accumulated considerable within the last week, to buy July wheat on weak spots. July is around $1.28, or 4c lower than last year, while the May is close to $1.32, or 9c below a year ago.

There is a feeling among large professional pit traders that wheat prices are to do better. Many are buying on all breaks. They believe that all bearish conditions have ben discounted, and that many in the trade have become tired of the bear side owing to their inability to force prices to a level which they believed should represent the large supplies and bring increased buying from abroad.

Wheat Prices for Week.

March wheat closed Saturday at $1.30⅞@1.31, May $1.31⅝@1.31¾, and July $1.27⅞@1.28, with net gains of 1½@2c for the week. Prices follow:

PROVISIONS HIGHER

Net gains on lard were 2½@5c, short ribs 17½@22½c, and bellies 12½c above the close of a week ago. The trade believes that provision futures have been well liquidated, and that values are on a healthy basis despite hedging by packers against output of their houses. Cash trade is said to be better, although shipments of lard and meat last week fell off. Prices follow:

Oats Act Stubborn.

A friendly feeling toward the buying side of oats continues among the local trade, and while there is liberal selling for profits on all bulges, every recession of ½c brings in considerable buying.

The week's range on futures was within practically 1c, and the close was at net gains of ⅛@1¼c. Cash oats are at good premiums for No. 2 white as compared with May, and consumptive demand is fair. Week's prices follow:

The total amount of Bonds to be at any time outstanding will be limited to $50,000,000 (or equivalent in other currencies). These $20,000,000 Series A Bonds and the $33,333 mortgage will, upon completion of this financing, be the only secured funded debt of the Corporation or of its subsidiary companies. Additional Bonds (other than Bonds for refunding) may be issued for a principal amount not to exceed 66⅔% of the cost or fair value, whichever is less, of additional fixed properties, under restrictions to be set forth in the Indenture, but only if combined net earnings (as defined therein) shall have been not less than three times the annual interest on all Bonds to be outstanding under the Indenture.

The properties of the Corporation and its subsidiary companies include four steam electric power plants with an aggregate installed generating capacity of 160,000 kw., now being increased to 235,000 kw., about 2,669 circuit miles of transmission lines and about 3,460 circuit miles of distribution lines, over 194 miles of gas mains and four coal mines with adequate reserves for the system's requirements. The electric and gas properties to be mortgaged have been appraised by an independent American engineer at about $36,000,000 and the coal properties by an independent German engineer at more than $3,000,000; the total value of these properties is thus about twice the principal amount of these Series A Bonds.

The proceeds of this issue will be applied to the payment of the above First Mortgage 6½% Bonds and of floating debt incurred for capital expenditures, and to additions and improvements to the properties of the Corporation and its subsidiary companies.

Combined earnings of the Corporation and its subsidiary companies (inter-company transactions eliminated), as certified by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, were as follows:

	Twelve Months Ended Aug. 31, 1927	Dec. 31, 1926
Gross operating earnings	$10,523,107	$8,580,736
Non-operating income	359,371	386,812
Total	$10,882,478	$8,967,548
Operating expenses, maintenance, depletion and taxes	6,792,011	5,634,516
Net earnings (before interest and reserves for renewals and replacements)	$ 4,090,467	$3,333,032

The above net earnings for the twelve months ended August 31, 1927, after deducting therefrom the Dawes Plan charges referred to, were equal to about 3⅓ times the annual interest on these Bonds. The net earnings include $221,177 for the twelve months ended August 31, 1927 and $133,329 for the year 1926, applicable to interests not owned by the Corporation in subsidiary companies, substantially all the fixed properties of which are to be subject to the mortgage securing these Bonds.

During the past two years additions to properties amounted to over $15,800,000, the effect of which is only partially reflected in the above earnings, and substantial sums from the proceeds of this issue will be expended for the further development of the system.

All conversions from German to United States currency have been made at 4.20 Reichsmarks to the Dollar.

Application will be made to list these Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

All proceedings in connection with the issuance of the above Bonds are subject to the approval of our counsel, Messrs. Sullivan & Cromwell, New York, and Messrs. Albert & Westrich, Berlin. The above statements are subject to corrections for cable errors.

We offer the above Bonds for subscription, if, as and when issued and received by us, at 92¾% and accrued interest, to yield about 6.60%.

Westphalia United Electric Power Corporation First Mortgage Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, 6½% Series due 1950, to be called, will be accepted in payment for these Bonds at the redemption price of par and interest to June 1, 1928, discounted at 4½% from date of delivery, provided notice of the amount of Bonds to be so tendered is given not less than five days before the date fixed for delivery of the new Bonds.

We reserve the right to close the subscription at any time without notice, to reject any application and to allot a smaller amount than applied for. Amounts due on allotment will be payable at the office of Speyer & Co., 24 & 26 Pine Street, in New York funds, on or about February 21, 1928, as called for, against delivery of Interim Receipts exchangeable for Definitive Bonds when ready.

SEARS-ROEBUCK 1927 NET SALES $268,731,794

BY O. A. MATHER.

Sears, Roebuck & Co., Chicago mail order house and the largest factor in that field, had the most prosperous period in its history last year. Both volume of business and profits established new high records.

Net sales for 1927 totaled $268,731,794, compared with $248,550,341 in 1926, which marked the previous high point. Total revenues were $277,502,386, an increase of $19,289,636, while operating expenses were $245,959,477, an increase of $16,298,305. Net income last year was $25,022,552, compared with $21,908,120 in 1926, which also was the previous high record. Net income was equivalent to $5.95 a share on the 4,200,000 shares of no par capital stock, compared with $5.21 a share in 1926.

Pays Larger Dividends.

The company paid out dividends totaling $10,499,660 last year, compared with $9,449,596 in 1926. After paying dividends and reducing the "good will" balance sheet item from $25,000,000 to $20,000,000, the company added $9,522,892 to surplus, which now stands at $55,390,082. In 1926 good will was reduced from $30,000,000 to $25,000,000.

The balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1927, shows the company to be in strong financial condition. Current assets were $101,575,697, an increase of $5,856,898 over Dec. 31, 1926; fixed assets were $76,633,564, increase $7,127,830; investments, $2,822,556, decrease $2,380,741; deferred assets, $3,708,634, increase $370,210; current liabilities, $21,308,323, increase $3,091,311; reserves, $3,042,047, decrease $1,640,006; capital stock, $105,000,000, no change; surplus, $55,390,082, increase $9,449,496.

Hart, Schaffner & Marx.

Another concern to show a highly prosperous year was Hart, Schaffner & Marx, clothing manufacturers. Increased production and sales gave the company the second best year in its history.

Net profits for the fiscal year ended Nov. 26, 1927, were $2,224,573, equivalent to $14.96 a share on the $15,000,000 capital stock. Net profits for the previous year were $1,874,191, or $12.49 a share. After paying dividends of 8 per cent last year, the company added $1,044,573 to surplus, which now stands at $9,669,352.

The balance as of Nov. 26, 1927, shows current assets at $15,312,138; increase $974,035; investments, $1,609,500, increase $389,500; employés' stock account, $483,716, increase $10,186; plant, etc., $417.123, decrease $50,317; good will, $10,000,000, no change; current liabilities, $1,403,126, increase $278,831; capital stock, $15,000,000, no change; reserves, $1,750,000, no change; surplus, $9,669,352, increase $1,044,573.

The New York Times.

New York, Jan. 21.—[Special.]—The incident which undoubtedly attracted most attention on last week's financial markets, was the abrupt abandonment of excited speculation for the rise on the stock exchange.

It was not accompanied by a break of prices, though it had been preceded by such a demonstration. It rather resembled a halt by general consent, until the circumstances which will shape and govern the financial and industrial situation shall have grown clearer.

This kind of pause has not been unusual, even in the last two years of speculative markets. Precisely such suspension of activities occurred exactly a year ago, when daily transactions on the New York stock exchange averaged during four or five weeks below the 1,500,000 share figure which nowadays is accepted as meaning a dull market.

Events of Previous Years.

Last year the change from these conditions came in the shape of renewed activity and rising prices, as the spring season approached; two years ago it took the form of the sweeping reaction of prices during March. It was a curious aspect of those markets that both the early resumption of the rise in 1927 and the early downward readjustment of 1926, occurred when revival of trade activity was visibly under way.

Thus far in the new year, nothing has been clearly indicated as to the course of things on the New York financial market, except that money rates for the longer term have grown firmer instead of falling, and that the reserve bank evidently has encouraged that firmness, through selling heavily its own holdings of government obligations and withdrawing that much cash from the general market.

This process traditionally is the first step in asserting the bank's control of credit and money rates. Advance in the official bank rate comes afterward, if it comes at all. But the reserve bank's attitude towards the money market is made unmistakable even by the policy thus far pursued, and so, inferentially, is its attitude towards the stock market.

Europe Shows More Strength.

While New York's market thus is in a position of considerable obscurity, the European markets have been making a very emphatic show of returning strength. It began some months ago, with the persistently high rate for sterling and the very large additions by the Paris market to its holdings of foreign exchange.

The trend of Europe was foreshadowed in a somewhat sensational way by last month's outpour of gold from the United States. Last week it was reflected in two other ways. One was the Bank of England's continued capture for its own reserve of gold arriving in the London market, which has now raised that fund to a higher figure than that at which it stood when gold payments were resumed, nearly three years ago.

The other was restoration by the Bank of France, for the first time since the fateful last week in July, 1914, of the 3½ per cent official discount rate which in prewar days was the sign of sound and strong conditions on the Paris market.

Kalamazoo Stove.

J. J. F.—The Kalamazoo Stove company was incorporated under Michigan laws in 1901.

It manufactures and sells direct to the consumer a complete line of stoves, ranges, and furnaces.

These products are sold by mail through the medium of a catalog and through twenty-five factory owned branches.

The business is national in scope and a large percentage of the sales are made in the rural and small town market.

Net income after taxes has grown from $191,854 in 1923 to $524,320 in 1926, and an estimated $649,275 for 1927.

The earnings per share on the 50,000 shares of common stock were $10.48 in 1926, against $8.75 in 1925 and the estimated 1927 earnings were equal to $10.99 a share.

It is stated that the directors have announced their intention of placing the stock on a $4.50 annual dividend basis, the first payable in April, 1928, but this has not yet been done.

There is no preferred stock and no bonded debt.

The stock apparently deserves a fairly good rating at present.

We cannot predict the course of the market.

MILLIONS IN NEW ISSUES ARE DUE IN LONDON SOON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Millions of pounds of new capital flotations are in prospect for early issue in London, a fact that is influencing market conditions here at the moment. A number of overseas issues soon will be due, including a Greek loan, a £2,000,000 Anglo-Java rubber loan to be offered on Wednesday, while a big cinema theaters deal is being arranged for public issue. It is expected £5,000,000 will be the issue, to take over a big chain of London and provincial houses to be run on the principle of American combination stage and movie presentations.

Several new British film companies also are appearing, in addition to issues running into more millions for pills, tea and a department store amalgamation, together with some big trust companies under Anglo-American auspices.

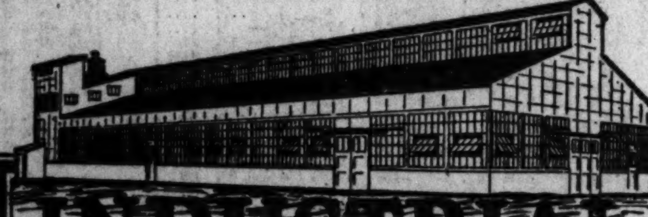

City circles are busy at the moment discussing the possibility of a reduction in the bank rate Thursday, but authoritative leaders are not hopeful, despite the trend of sterling, the large gold influx, and lowering of the Bank of France's standard. The foreign balances in London have been considerably increased since the restoration of the gold standard, and the Bank of England desires not to take steps which might lead to their withdrawal.

Generally the markets show hesitancy, especially in the industrial section, where considerable profit taking has made itself felt. In this regard gramophones, artificial silks, stores and tobaccos were affected, with budget scares being responsible for much of the feeling.

Oil prices also broke badly on fears of a rate cutting war in the far east. Stocks were heavily overthrown, prices on some of the leaders reaching low records.

Rubber shares also were unsatisfactory, chiefly owing to the piling up in London of stocks of rubber in the last two weeks. Tins, contrarily, showed up better on belief that the reaction in the price of the metal was overdone and the recovery is overdue.

A bright feature has been the revival in the paltinum group, based on talk of metallurgical experiments here and abroad yielding highly satisfactory results. Diamonds were better, teas irregular, home rails sensitive, foreign rails steady, newspapers easing, iron, coal and steel good, motors quiet, and wireless fluctuated.

Sales Executive

A group of business men have developed in their own laboratories a device that is a necessity on all automobiles, and have also patented and purchased patents covering the device during the years of its development. This one device does the work of two devices now in universal use and saves an average of over two dollars per car. It has been well received wherever shown and is now ready for quantity production. Its owners, who are entirely able and are willing to finance the manufacture and sale of the device, now seek a very high-grade executive to take charge of the manufacture and of the promotional sale of this device to Automobile Manufacturers. A man of unquestioned executive ability with successful manufacturing and sales experience, preferably in the automotive industry, is requisite. The applicant may or may not be invited to become financially interested in this business venture.

PLENTY OF OIL ON TROUBLED SOVIET WATERS

BY HARPER LEECH.

If there are any old time radicals left in this country they must be asking themselves where they get off, as the row between Royal Dutch and Standard Oil of New York proceeds.

United States senators, who have been on the trail of oil and who have also been beating the tomtoms for the recognition of Russia, must wonder what it's all about.

Mr. Francis Delaisi has written a pamphlet called the "Dictatorship of the Oil Trusts." It is published by the "Union for Democratic Control," of London. Said union is the same sort of pacifists and semi-socialist organization as those in this country which maintain lobbies and press agencies at Washington—so ably analyzed by Mr. Arthur Henning in THE TRIBUNE and in his booklet, "Government by Propaganda."

Mr. Delaisi, of course, slaps the bolsheviki wrists a bit, as do their friends here, when they are trying to put something over. It's a gift.

But he does not conceal his hope that big American finance is about to come to the aid of the party. He probably is too sanguine. It's one thing to buy oil, another to lend money. And if anybody wants to be helpful, he probably had better hurry, because the wheat reports this year suggest that Stalin is having a hard time collecting grain for export, and any oil money he gets may have to be spent for American flour, as happened three or four years ago—and that won't hurt our feelings here in the midwest.

Mr. Delaisi's pamphlet has a footnote to explain the oil lineup:

"The English companies are the Royal Dutch and Shell (whose managing director is Sir Henri Wilhelm August Deterding) and the Anglo-Persian.

"Closely affiliated to the Royal Dutch is the American Standard Oil of New Jersey (President Mr. Walter C. Teagle), in which Mr. John D. Rockefeller is interested.

"Two other American groups are the Standard Oil Company of New York ('public relations counsel'), Mr. Ivy Lee, and the Vacuum Oil company (whose secretary is Mr. Hughes).

"The Naptha syndicate is a Russian company (president, Mr. Serebrowsky)."

According to Mr. Delaisi, Sir Henri Deterding sought a break between the British government and the soviets, because he was getting the worst of a price war with Russian oil in the British market, and the great Midland bank of London was about to lend $50,000,000 to the soviets.

Premier Baldwin opposed the break, says Mr. Delaisi, because his brother is associated with the American Harriman group in Russian manganese concessions, and he knew that Stalin was trying hard to get in the good graces of the western money powers.

Russian novels suggest that Russians frequently meet themselves coming around a corner. They appear to have led their American admirers right up to a front seat in the big business show.

FARM AND GARDEN
BY FRANK RIDGWAY

Potato growers have often wondered why their spuds come through in fine shape, unfrozen, when it is cold enough to freeze water in the automobile radiator and form a layer of ice in the watering tank or trough. Water may freeze near a potato bin when the spuds are left unfrozen. Water freezes at 32 degrees above zero, while the freezing point of potatoes varies, but normally is 29 degrees above zero.

Potatoes behaved rather peculiarly in tests made recently in laboratories by federal scientists, who found that a cold potato may be colder than ice and yet not be frozen. Surprises in the experiments show up under extreme cold conditions. These scientists discovered that because of "undercooling" the tubers may survive temperatures materially below the freezing point without damage, since no ice is formed inside the potato. Crystallization may take place where the cold potato is jarred and the tuber will freeze within a short time.

Potatoes stored in sacks or barrels, where the air can circulate between the tubers freely, freeze more quickly than spuds kept in bins. Scientists recommend the bringing of heat to the potatoes instead of taking the potatoes to the heat where the spuds are exposed to a temperature below 29 degrees Fahrenheit. This avoids the risk of jarring them in handling, which may cause them to freeze.

The federal laboratory tests showed that if potatoes are stored for some time where the temperature is near the freezing point of water, 32 degrees, the spuds' freezing point changes and becomes lower than where potatoes are stored at higher temperatures.

A1 SALESMEN,

SOMETHING UNUSUAL.

I am interested in securing about 20 young men of good character who can furnish good references. Should be between ages of 25 and 35 and preferably married. If you have the above qualifications I shall train you for 2 full days in our salesroom, teaching you our methods of selling our products. After this training, provided you are accepted, you will then be placed in the field with experienced men and with an assured income. At the present time our company maintains 26 offices in the country, doing the same thing for our organization. Program for the year is to establish offices all over the country. We are at the present time successfully operating throughout 45 countries of the world, therefore claim the largest, wealthiest company of its kind in the world today. We shall be able to place the successful applicants in real executive positions in as short a time as possible. The above is an honest advertisement for good, reputable men, and I am prepared to back it up. Even though you may be employed at a satisfactory salary, I have the courage to have you give it up for a real selling position with a future. See Personnel Manager, 2107 Transportation Bldg., 608 S. Dearborn, 9-12 a. m.

A GOOD SALARY.

Liberal commissions, live leads and a permanent position for six ambitious men. Must be over 25 yrs. of age, honest and have good character references.

If you have sales experience I can start you in the Chicago district at once. If you have no sales experience but are willing to learn I will work with you and teach you the business. I am a manager for an old established concern and will interview all applicants in person only. If you can sell me on your sincerity, ambition and serious intention to succeed I will put you on my pay roll.

This means an opportunity for a permanent position. A successful future with a successful firm, and immediate earnings that you can increase every year. No irresponsible, curiosity seekers wanted. But if you really want work, a good salary and prompt commissions see me Monday, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., at the Hotel Sherman, Suite 106.

Ask for Mr. W. F. Brown.

A SPECIALTY HIGH CALIBER SALESMAN ONLY

This is an unusual proposition which requires the services of an unusual man; to qualify you must have a proven record, ability, brains, poise, and a successful appearance.

We are not interested in beginners in the selling field. A man who has made $10,000 a year or more stands a better chance of qualifying; you must be able to meet men of all classes on a basis of equality.

We are a national organization; our business is appointing exclusive dealers for our product; remuneration is on a commission basis and we allow substantial drawing account.

Apply 1505 Conway Bldg., between 10-1.

A GOOD JOB IS HARD TO FIND.

But if you will really work 8 hours every day here's the best job you ever had—and it's permanent, year around work, with plenty of bigger positions for the better than average man. Previous direct to consumer experience is desirable, but ambition and sincerity are the chief requirements.

We won't hire every Tom, Dick, and Harry that comes in, but you will get a prompt and courteous interview. If you are not suited to our work we'll tell you so. If you are we will employ you and YOU'LL MAKE GOOD!

SALESMEN!

Will 1928 be just "another year" for you, or the most important in your life?

It will be another year of "headaches" and "heartaches" for some—for the kind of man who is in a rut, who knows he is in it, and who lacks backbone enough to make a constructive move to get out of it.

But for the others—for the clear-eyed, aggressive, ready-to-face-the-world type of man—it will mean something else—a new deal—a new opportunity—another chance to cash in on his energy, his ability, and the good times that all the economists predict.

THE HARMON ORGANIZATION

has looked into the future, has seen what 1928 holds, and has laid its plans so that all of the men associated with its sales force shall enjoy to the maximum the rewards that are the inevitable result of good hard teamwork, intelligently directed.

MEN, 25 TO 50 YEARS OLD.

We need good men—many of them—men of the same type that we now have in our sales force, which, we believe, is second to none; men who can capitalize on our record of uninterrupted success, who can walk and talk and tell the truth, who are serious and hold permanent connections, who realize the dollar and cents value of an opportunity to represent the largest and oldest real estate firm in the country, a concern with 40 years' successful development in 31 American cities behind it, an organization where sales resistance is at a minimum.

OPPORTUNITY—1928.

To such men we offer the opportunity of a lifetime. 1928 will be our biggest year. We have several new properties in Chicago that will be placed on the market this year. These properties will be backed by newspaper advertising. We have a profit-sharing plan for salesmen that is unique in its liberality. We don't want and won't take drifters. We want men who have made big money. We will offer them a chance to make more money than they ever made before. Experience is unnecessary. We will train you and work with you. Come in and let us lay our cards on the table and tell you what we are willing to do for you and what we expect from you in return.

MEN,

START THE NEW YEAR RIGHT.

ALL OUR FORMER RECORDS BEING BROKEN. MORE MONEY MADE THAN EVER BEFORE. LOOK AT THIS PROOF. ADDITIONAL IRONCLAD EVIDENCE. COLD, HARD FACTS. THAT IS, THAT THIS IS BY FAR THE BIGGEST MONEY MAKING SPECIALTY IN AMERICA.

Look into this new selling patented electrical specialty that has an unlimited field as big as that of the automobile.

A necessity is something that the buyer knows he needs. Necessities are usually sold by order takers. A specialty is something the buyer needs, but does not know it. Therefore a real specialty is something new, different, appealing, attractive. Men selling a good specialty make from two to five times as much as men selling necessities, and we will gladly submit a world of proof that we have the highest paid specialty sales force in America. This is because of the great need and unlimited field and tremendous attractiveness of our specialty.

Below is a list of salesmen whom we have interested in this business in the past two years and a half, and their earnings for one year:

Mr. Carothers	$16,376.02
Mr. Juelson	14,800.00
Mr. Welch	13,738.74
Mr. Sowers	11,500.00
Mr. Stevens	11,390.20
Mr. Hager	10,200.00
Mr. De Cray	9,220.98
Mr. Bijlstra	8,710.00
Mr. Oberg	8,320.00

each year for four years.

In one of our branches there is a man by the name of Weild who has been in the business two years, made $2,300 during the month of December alone.

These are actual figures, cold hard facts. Still our business is growing by leaps and bounds. Men are constantly making more money with us, achieving greater success. We expect the year 1928 to be at least 100% better than 1927.

If you join us, you will be given real co-operation and we have plenty of money to do business with. We have $3,500,000 paid in capital.

If you are ambitious and in earnest, married, between the ages of 28 and 45 years, we would like to tell you about this attractive business. Apply Air Way Branch of Chicago, 537 S. Dearborn-st., Room 203, or those men living in the northern section of the city, Apply at our office, Rm. 201, 1621 Sherman-av., Church Street BLDG., Evanston, Ill. SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS
Because the rates on second mortgages have been so costly for such a long, long time, people can hardly realize the extent to which the rates have been reduced.
When we started to make second mortgage loans two years ago, our rates were from 25%-40% lower than the lowest quoted rate at that time, and we have made two reductions in the meantime.
Second mortgage rates have been very materially reduced as you will find if you call, write or phone.
